OBJECT.

The object of the Institution is to give students such a training as will best prepare them to meet all the duties of life. Special care will be given to prepare those who desire it for entering College. As we desire that all should receive full benefit for the time and means spent in the School, none are encouraged to attend who are not willing to make the best use of all the opportunities the School affords. It is our aim to inculcate sound moral and religious principles, though all sectarianism is excluded.

LIBRARY AND APPARATUS.

A valuable library of more than five hundred volumes is kept in the School Building for the use of Students, and the Institution is well supplied with Chemical and Philosophical Apparatus.

SOCIETY.

The Abolitionist Literary Society furnishes additional opportunities for the Students to engage in literary exercises.

EXAMINATIONS.

Examinations will be made at the beginning of each term, and Students should be provided with paper and pencil.

MISCELLANEOUS.

It is much better for pupils to enter at the beginning of the Term, though they may begin at any time.

Each pupil will be expected to furnish a reasonable excuse for absence during study hours, unless excused by the Principal.

Parents and friends are earnestly requested to visit the School. Applications may be made to Joseph P. Poor, Secretary of the Board of Managers.
