Spirit of Year Shows

The life of a MHS student could be compared to the structure of the Solar System—the school is the center and all activities revolve around it.

All these activities lead to cherished memories. Some special highlights that you will long remember are: That important game you wanted so much to win, the thrill of having a particular float win the homecoming parade, a first school dance, the class parties, the apprehension preceding and the fun at the Prom, the pride in being a Senior, and at last the wonderful feeling of accomplishment when as a Senior you step up and receive a diploma.

All these memories stem from the fact that we Pioneers are constantly seeking fun, knowledge, and valuable experiences. Through this quest we put spirit into everything we do. This spirit was one of the outstanding characteristics of the year.

Mike Free receives the Morgan County Tourney Sportsmanship Award from the principal of Monrovia. The award is based on scholarship, ability, and mental attitude during the tourney.

Football team members rejoice in their Homecoming Victory by carrying Coach Brown on their shoulders.

on Happy Faces of Pioneers

Miss Robbins shows Mr. Pennington and Randall Parker the correct form for foul shooting.

"Wherefore art thou, Romeo?" asks David Grass as he portrays Juliet in Speech Class.

From ice cream sandwiches to dreamsicles, the Lettermen's Club delighted in good service. A. Reed, B. Kennedy, D. Grass, D. Byers, D. Cox, and T. Gibbs deliberate over their purchases from John Wood and Jay Coleman.

One of the highlights of the year was the co-operation between the teachers and students. Through this cooperation and by promotion from the administration, spirit reached a new high at MHS.

Our athletic teams were well supported, which was proven by the many awards and achievements brought to our school by students.

Most of these things came about because of pride in our school. Through this pride a better working school was produced.

"Clash Day" proved rewarding for these students as they were chosen as having the costumes which clashed the most.

Teachers; Students Promote Spirit

The Homecoming floats sit in the end zone during the Homecoming pep session.

From the First Day to the Last

Mr. Farr addresses the student body on the first day of school.

Classes took up much of each student's time. Here Mr. Davis points out an important happening to Laverne Broadstreet.

Day and All the Days Between

Mrs. Walter's Harry (Tom Storm) attempts to explain to Betty MacDonald (Sandy Altman) that the bell-top crossers jammed with the street elbows and caused trouble with the trap crosses. Activities such as the plays provided variety during the year and also gave much enjoyment.

During the final week, Miss Grounds and Mrs. Wooden rush to complete their grading on the final exams.

The Dance Band provides entertainment at the pep session before our last football game.

From Making Fun . . .

Getting punch at the Christmas Dance are several MHS students.

Dancing at noon is one of the favorite pastimes of most of the girls.

... to Working Hard

Typical of the atmosphere of study is this hard-working study hall.

Fun is what the Pioneer is best at doing. He can find fun and enjoyment almost anywhere. He can find it at a dance, a ball game, a pep session, at noon, between classes, in activities, and even during class!

But fun-making is not the only thing a typical Pioneer does at school. He is honest and sincere about doing his homework. He is industrious and accomplishes things he didn't think he could do, even if it means staying up all night to type that 3,000 word research report that is due, or waiting until the last minute to do his bookkeeping.

All told a MHS student combines hard work with fun-making to make his school life enjoyable and worthwhile.

Sneaky Camera Catches

Cassie Brown and Jerri Anderson seem to have been caught unaware in between the acts of the Senior Play.

Donna Mason and Chere Littell make last minute preparations for commencement.

Watch it there! Several members of the Journalism Class seem to be doing just that. Dennie Neimeier cleans some ink off Suzanne Swineheart's skirt.

Unusual Expressions

Dreamy eyed Miss Millican has a far away look as she presents Gan Fields the award for giving the best performance in the Senior Play.

Dennie Neimeier, Mayanne Record, and Sherry Merideth seem to be pondering over a problem in front of the office desk.

Queen Jo Ann Neal rejoices after being crowned queen of the 1962 Homecoming. Accompanying her in this moment is her Princess, Linda Smith.

"Expecting A Victory" won grand prize for the Juniors. This was a first for their class.

'62 Homecoming Starts New Tradition

In breaking the tradition of threatening weather, the Homecoming Parade was on a beautiful sunny day. Floats, convertibles, Queen and Princess candidates highlighted the festivities.

The parade was the largest and best ever at MHS. The Junior's float "Expecting A Victory" captured first place.

A new tradition was innovated this year, by having both a Homecoming Queen and a Princess. Candidates for the queen were chosen from the Senior and Junior classes, and candidates for Princess were picked from the Sophomore and Freshman classes.

At halftime Queen Jo Ann Neal and Princess Linda Smith were crowned to climax a wonderful week of fun and activities.

The Queen and her Court reign over the second half of the Homecoming football game. Judy Mallott, Connie Stevens, Barbara Cable, Linda Smith, Jo Ann Neal, Arline Miller, Jackie Allen and Wendy Roberson were candidates for Queen and Princess.

Band's Variety Show Successful

VARIETY SHOW CAST—SEATED: L. Miller, J. Cable, Margie Hribar; Choreographer, S. Morrison, P. Park. ROW 2: V. Fields, M. Marksberry, J. Allen, L. Smith, B. Giffin, S. Venable, C. Williams. BACK ROW: J. Malott, B. Farah, J. Collins, S. Ayers, K. Keck, S. Fields, S. Gunnel, L. Broadstreet, C. Barlow, M. Petty.

"Musical Varieties of '63" was the title of the 2nd annual show put on by the Band and Kadettes. The 1963 show was an even greater success than the first with a full house attending both nights.

The show consisted of music by the Band, ensembles, solos, and dancing by the Kadettes and Majorettes.

Doing a fine job on the choreography for the second year was Margie Hribar. The music arrangement was done by Mr. Patchett.

These four hoboes, Judy Cable, Patty Park, Sharon Morrison, and Linda Miller seem to be having a good time despite their poverty.

Sports Queens Add Zest to Season

BASKETBALL QUEEN CANDIDATES: LuRhe Hawkins, Frances Flick, Sandy Altman, and Suzanne Swineheart.

This year, as in the past, two sports queens were chosen.

The basketball team nominated four girls for the queen. They were LuRhe Hawkins, Suzanne Swineheart, Sandy Altman, and Frances Flick. At the final pep session of the year Sandy Altman was crowned queen by captain, Mike Free.

The track team members chose LuRhe Hawkins as their queen. She represented Mooresville in the Mid-State Conference track meet.

TRACK QUEEN: LuRhe Hawkins

“Moonlight and Roses” Theme of Jr.-

Sr. Prom Held at Columbia Club

Candidates for Prom King and Queen await the names of the ones selected which are about to be announced by John Wood.

"Moonlight and Roses" was chosen as the theme for the 1963 Prom which was sponsored by the Juniors. The annual affair, which was held at the Columbia Club in Indianapolis, was very successful and the theme was well carried out in the decor.

Music for the event was provided by the nationally renowned Vic Knight orchestra.

The high-light of the evening was the crowning of Paula Wilkins and Terry Kenworthy as Prom Queen and King.

The Post Prom which was held in the gym was also very successful. The gym was decorated with a false ceiling of parachutes. The Master of Ceremonies for the Post Prom was Bob Morrison, WXLW disc jockey.

Mike Free receives his Valedictorian award from Mr. Farr.

Mr. Farr presents to Carl Cowen the Salutatorian award.

Students Honored by Many Awards

Margie Hribar, Peggy Bridges and Gan Fields accept the Tri-Kappa awards for scholarship and citizenship.

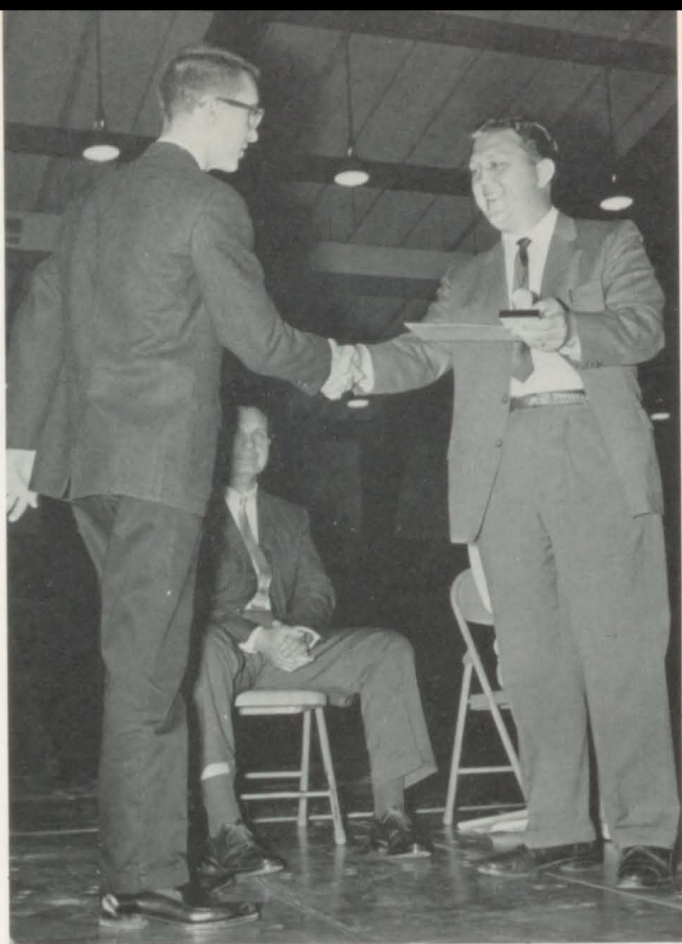

Arline Miller receives the "top typist" award from Mr. Brown.

Those who had labored were rewarded on a special day in May. The major awards went to Seniors but a few underclassmen received recognition also.

The school as a whole also received a gift—a flag from the American Legion. Various organizations were represented and gave their awards in person. Some of the awards were in the form of pins, some certificates, some money, and others gifts.

Some found the occasion sentimental and a few tears were shed as the passing of another year was marked with the honoring of its deserving.

Cyndy Matthews sheds a tear as she hands the Student Council gavel to her successor, Claude Willis.

Bill Harad receives the John Philip Sousa award from Mr. Patchett.

True Wisdom Is to Know What Is Best Worth

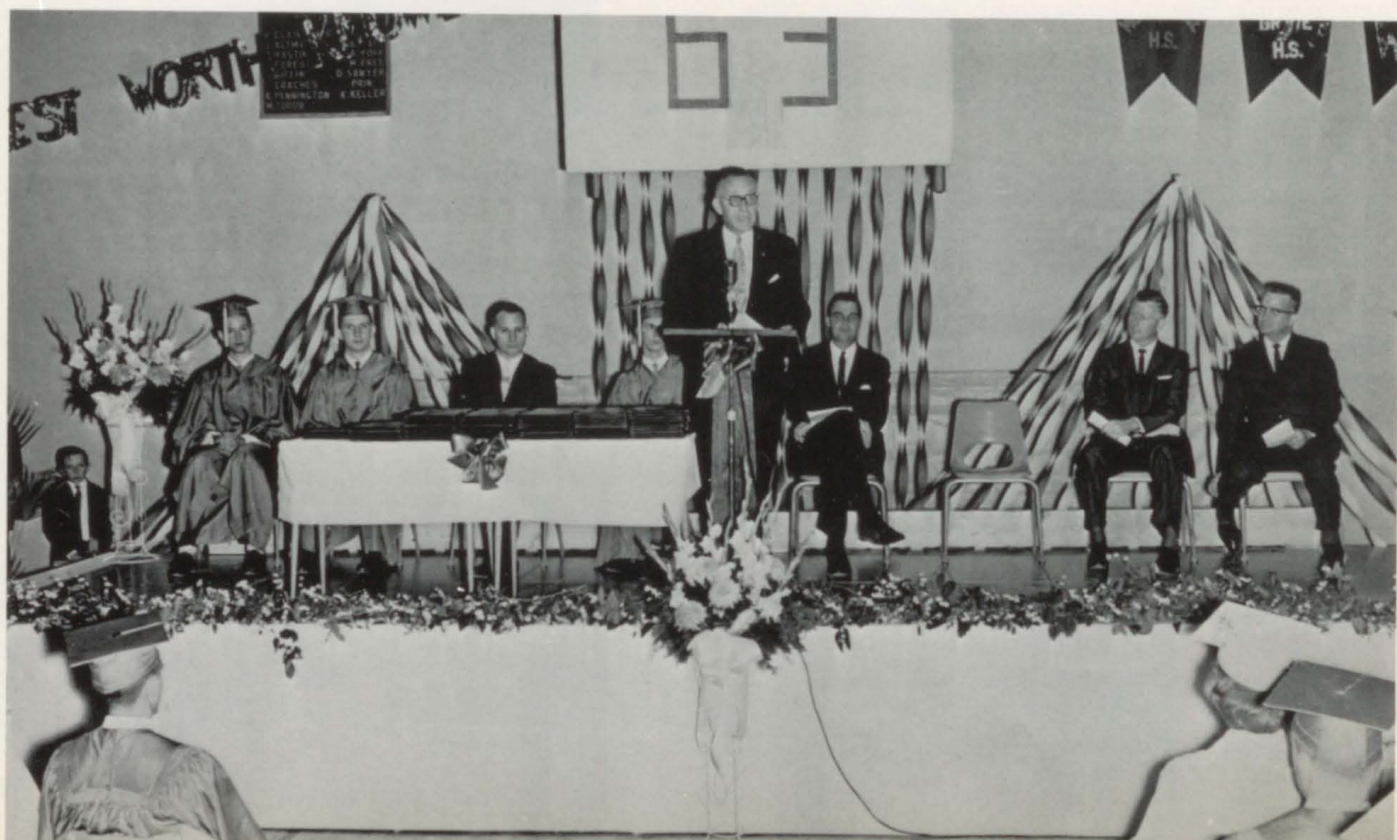

Commencement Exercises for the '63 graduating Seniors were highlighted by the Senior motto, "True wisdom is to know what is best worth knowing, and to do what is best worth doing." The 105 Seniors received their diplomas along with the sincere congratulations of Mr. Bell, who is School Superintendent.

Valedictorian, Mike Free and Salutatorian, Carl Cowen, both spoke, giving thanks to the teachers and parents who inspired them with the desire to learn and reviewing the worth of their high school days.

Dr. Oestrich of I. U. spoke to the audience—especially the proud graduating Seniors. He wished them sincere luck in the future and gave them valuable advice.

LEFT: Sarah Gibbs and Claude Willis, head ushers in the Commencement Exercises, listen attentively while diplomas are given out.

Dr. Oestrich, Director of Education at Indiana University, is delivering his message to the 1963 graduating seniors.

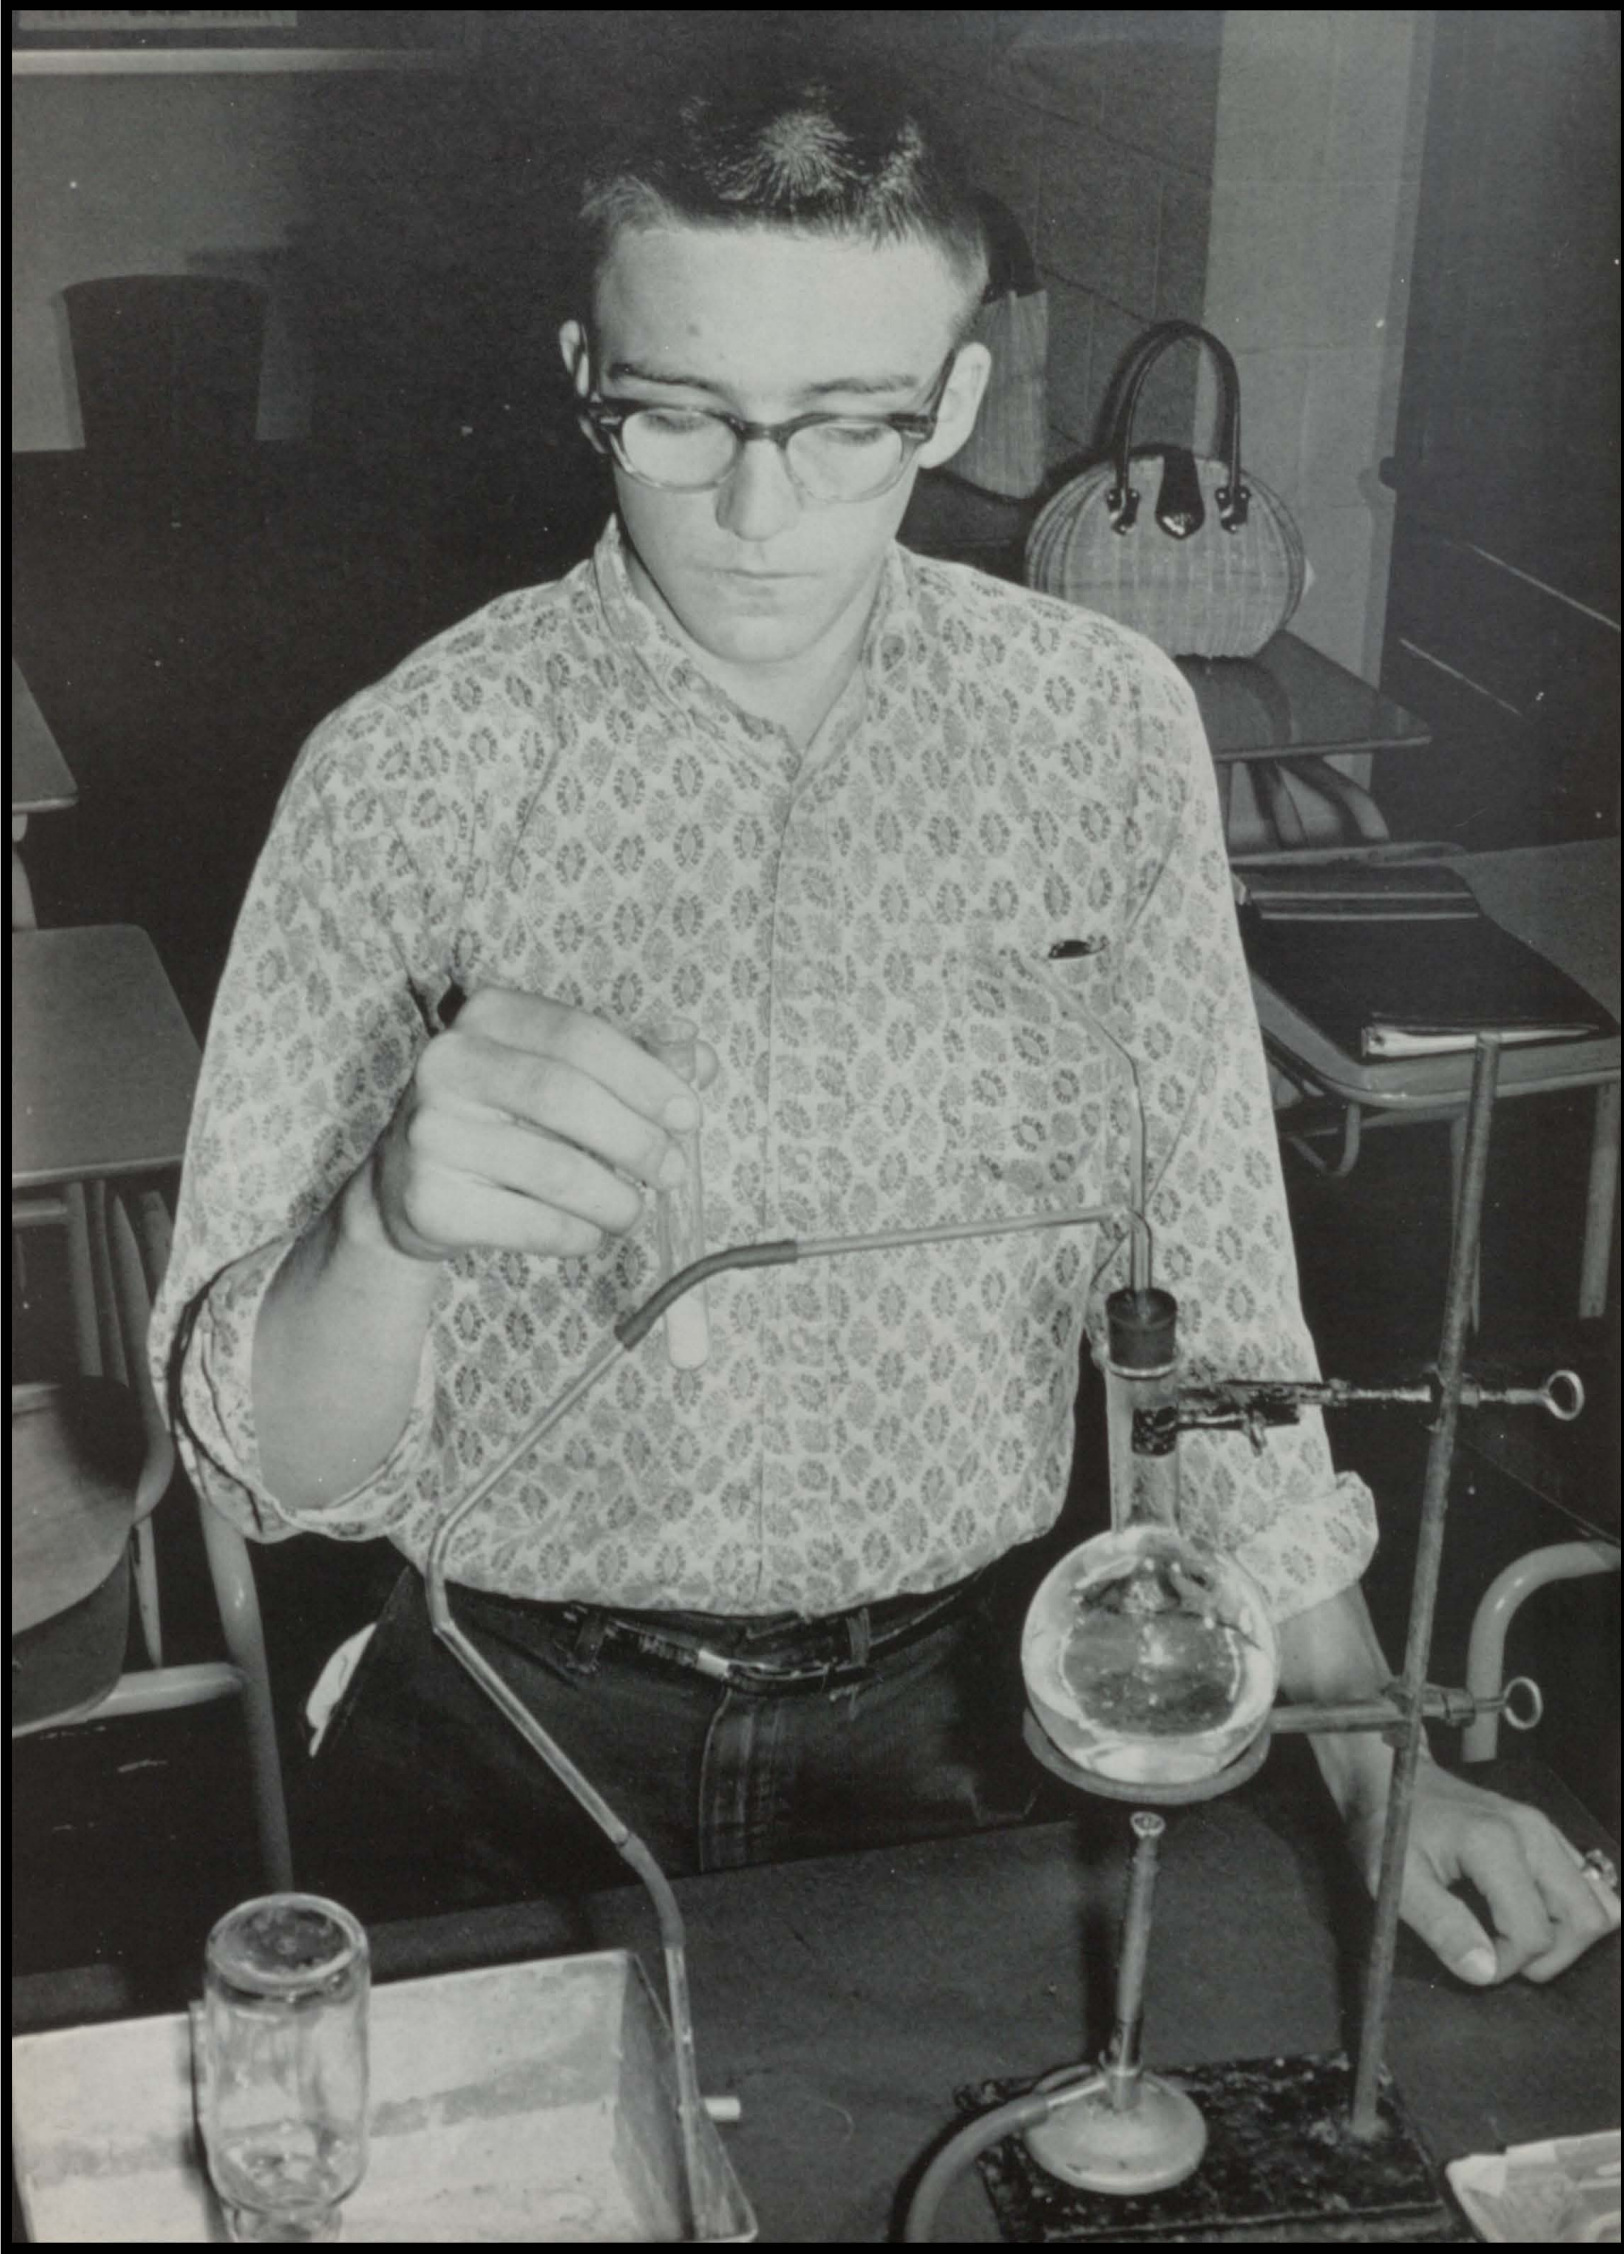

Knowing and to Do What Is Best Worth Doing

Seniors solemnly wait for their names to be called by Superintendent Bell in order to receive their cherished diplomas.

Senior girls make last minute preparations for Baccalaureate and Commencement.

It may be true
that we are still merely shinnying up the trunk
of the tree of knowledge,
but our years of schooling have taught us how to reach the branches.

From the guidance and experience
of our teachers
we have learned
the romance of a poem,
the magic of a story,
and the practicality
of two plus two.

However wisely
or unwisely
we may use it,
the education, we have.

Solid Geometry and Trigonometry students study the geometric solids.

Mastering Square Roots; Slide Rules Gives Students Valuable Knowledge

Jim Rodenbeck explains a problem to Mr. Lind in General Math class.

The Math Department at MHS ranks with some of the nation's best. In all achievement tests our Math Department ranks well above the national average.

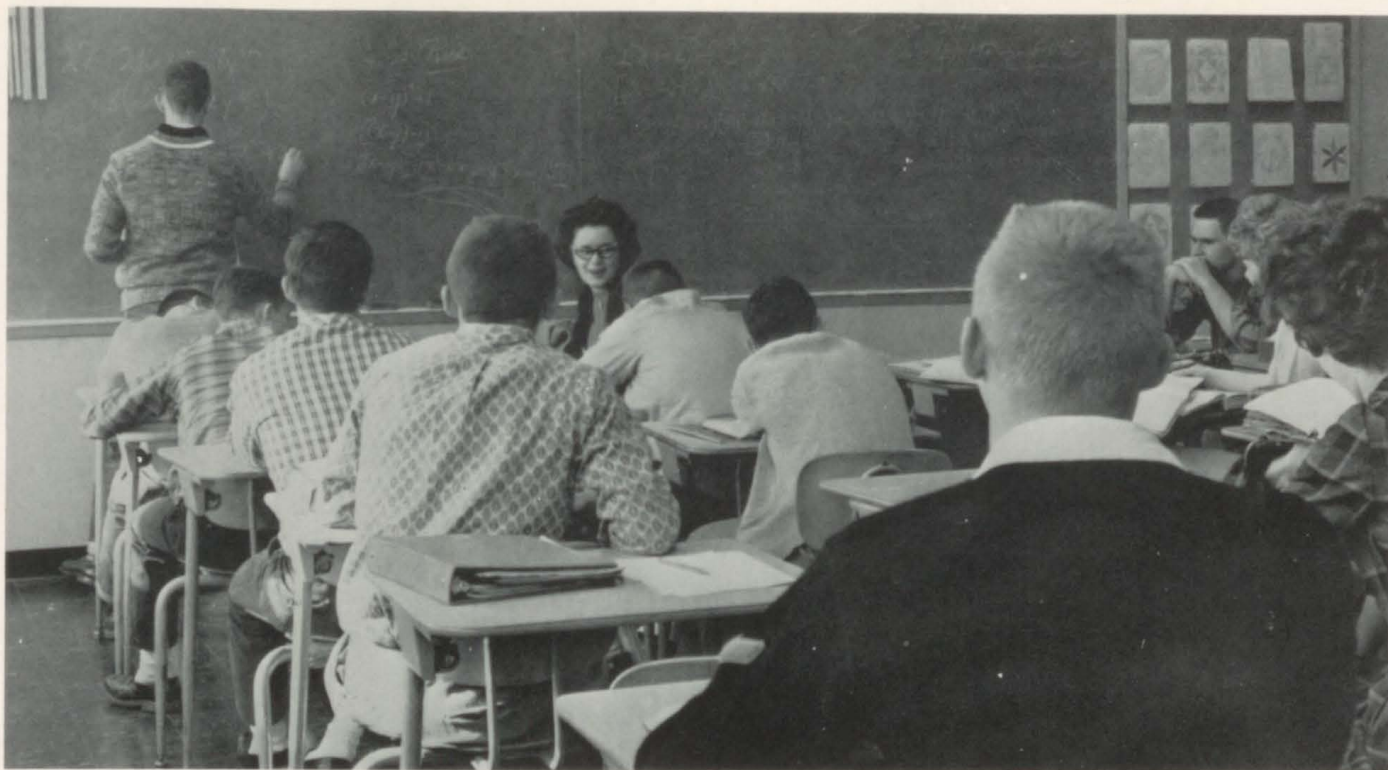

Students at MHS have a large variety of math courses from which they can choose. This gives them a good background for occupations which are based around a wide knowledge of math.

Freshman students have a choice of either General Math or Algebra I. General Math is a refresher course of arithmetic while Algebra I is the start of higher mathematics. By taking this course they learn the basis of formulae and equations.

Plane Geometry is the second year math course in which lines, figures, and points on planes are drawn and used.

Algebra II classes learn formulae in higher and more complicated forms. They also learn parts of Trigonometry and Geometry.

Solid Geometry class studies lines, points, and figures in space, and Trigonometry concerns practical applications of measurement and the use of logarithms.

Claude Willis, a member of Mr. Johnson's Algebra II class, is struggling through one of the most difficult problems of factoring, while the rest of the class looks on with interest.

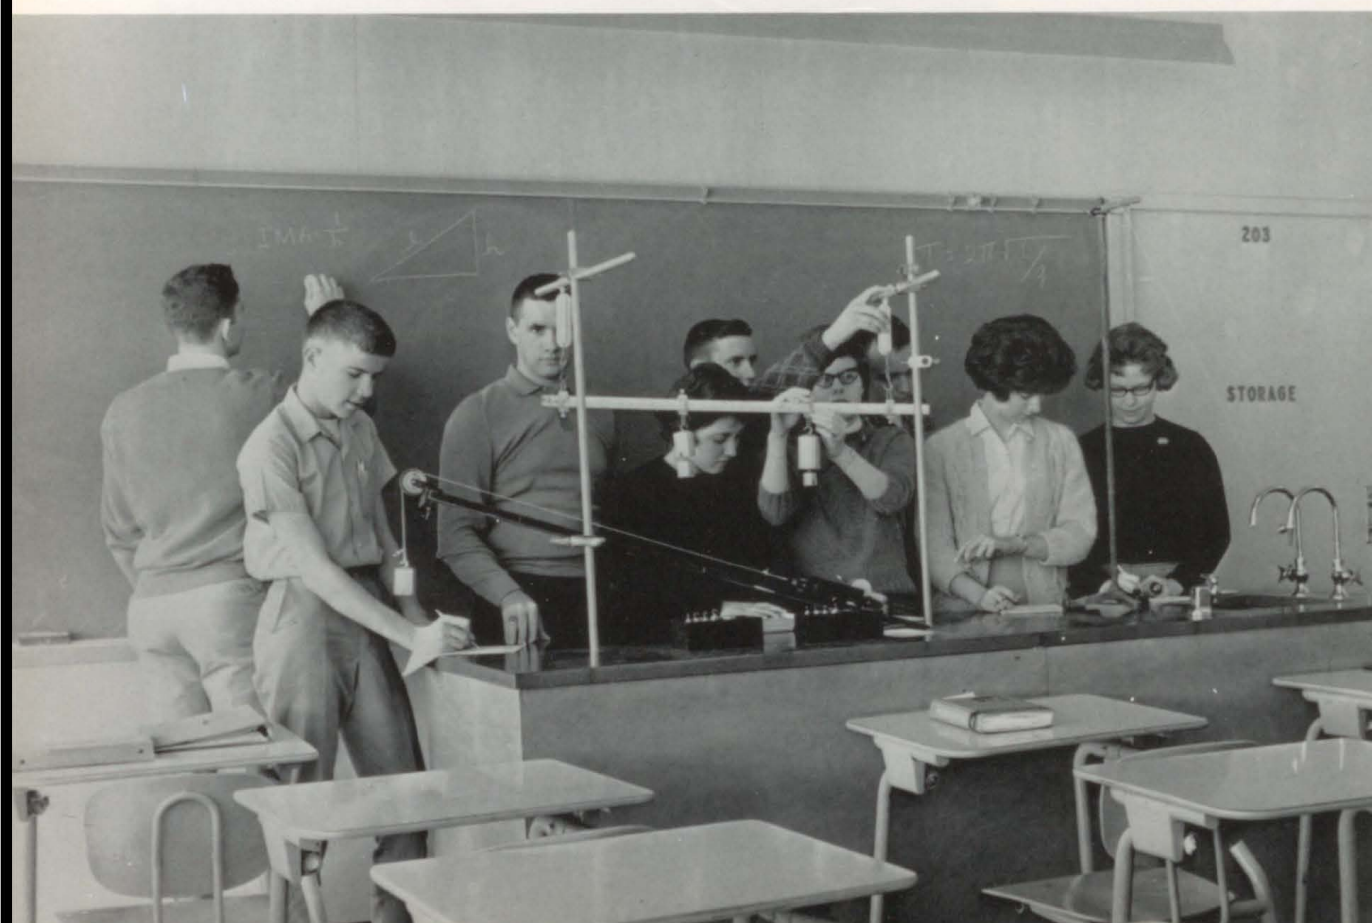

In Mr. Johnson's class sophomore students study Geometry with the use of notebooks and plastic geometrical figures. Cheryl Beasley, one of the top students in his class, explains Theorem 3 on the board.

Stan O'Hair and Sue Hanshew seem to question a fact about the IMA of the pulley while Tom Walsh and Mary Norris study the fundamentals of torque.

The Physics class ponders over some of the simple machines.

The 3rd hour Chemistry class marvels over one of the many experiments that they did during the year.

Science Students Learn Facts About Structure and Composition of Earth

Larry Sawyer and Phil Thompson seem to have a little fun explaining the Arthropoda family to the Biology class.

Because of the added emphasis on science caused by new and interesting developments, space flight, and medical research, science courses have become very popular at MHS.

Learning about Nature and wildlife from the simplest amoeba to the most complex man is the interesting study of the Biology class.

Chemistry classes are constantly making the halls reek with the odor of hydrogen sulfide and other unpleasant gases while discovering new and interesting things about the world we live in.

Students who are studying Physics learn about heat, light, weight, and the mechanics of forces which are the fundamental laws which rule our earth.

Physical Science classes study science on a general level and include parts of each of the previous branches.

Several Spanish I students, under the watchful eye of Miss Grounds, practice writing their conjugations on the board.

Students Study Dickens; Caesar

Through the excellent teaching of Mrs. Richardson, the Latin III students learn of the early Roman Empire.

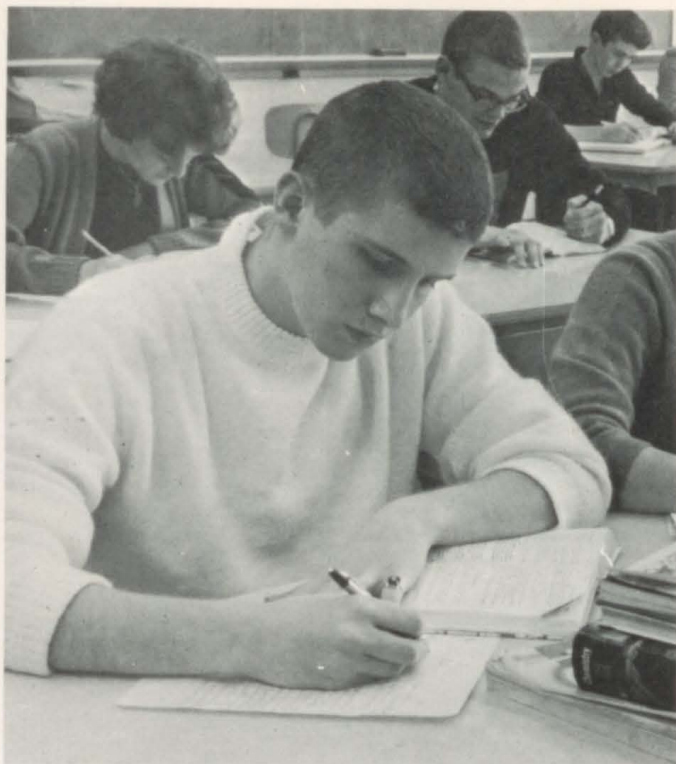

Through verbal communication man can express himself. It was the aim of the English and language departments of MHS to help the students learn to write, speak, and express themselves properly.

All students at MHS were required to take at least three years of English. These courses were broken down into two areas—grammar and literature. Also a fourth year English class, English grammar and composition, was offered to Seniors.

Students studying the language of the old Roman Empire had four years of Latin available to them. First year students learned the basic Latin word forms and acquired a general knowledge of vocabulary. Second year students studied Caesar, while third and fourth year pupils concentrated on Cicero and Virgil.

Voices which seemed to come from across the Rio Grande actually came from just down the hall in one of the classrooms. These students were learning a modern foreign language—Spanish. Spanish pupils learn the vocabulary, word forms, and customs of our Latin American neighbors.

Through our language department MHS graduates were better prepared to face our complex world.

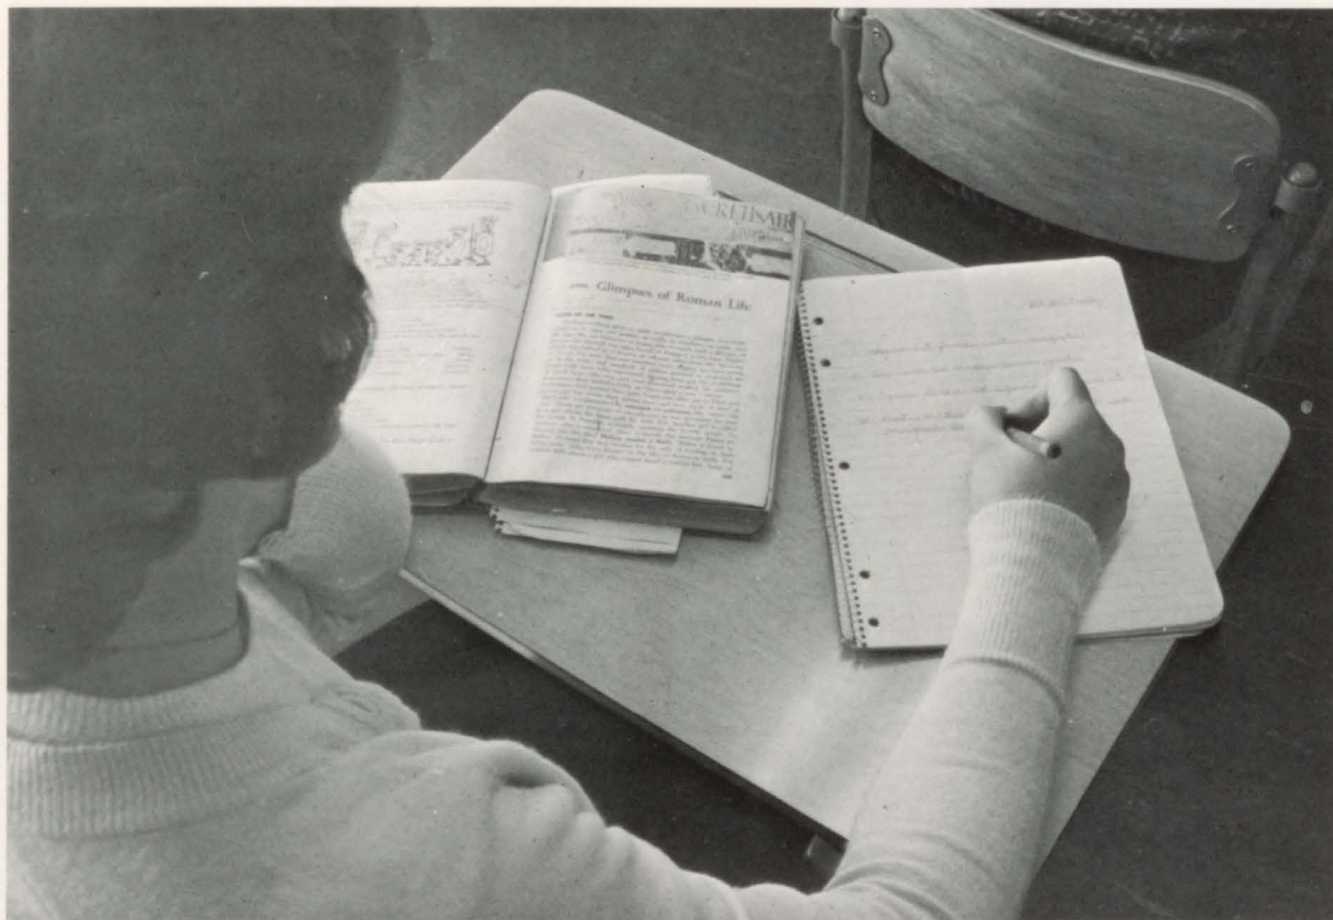

Tom Gibbs appears to be working hard on a theme for his Senior Comp. class.

Dick Park points out to his Junior Grammar class how a sentence should be diagrammed.

Everything seems to be correct on Rita Kenworthy's Latin paper.

Students Learn to Speak, to Write

CAMPUS CRIER page editors and other members of the Journalism class prepare to lay out the newspaper.

Nancy Richardson, Gan Fields, and Mary Ann Priller gave an excerpt from Macbeth in Speech class.

Two basic skills, speaking and writing, were stressed in Speech and Journalism classes.

A speech course was initiated at MHS this year. In previous years it had been combined with Composition. Now it is a one semester course completely separate of Composition. Here, students study and practice giving different types of speeches from extemporaneous speeches to a polished formal speech.

These pupils were graded in several areas. Some of these were appearance, posture, voice, content, diction, delivery, grammar, eye contact, and timing. Through constructive criticisms by the teacher and classmates, a speaker improved and gained more confidence with each speech.

The Journalism class spent most of its class time learning the practical aspects of running a newspaper by writing stories, proofreading, writing headlines, and typing.

Art-Music Students Develop Talents

The band, directed by Mr. Patchett, practices for the annual variety show.

Miss Webster directs the Girls' Glee Club.

Miss Like checks the work of the Art class.

"Musical Varieties of '63" hi-lighted the year for the Band. The Band presented the show on April 19 and 20. All organizations of the Band participated in this successful event.

The newly organized Pep Band played at all home basketball games. This band consisted of a combo out of the Concert Band.

The Art classes decorated the windows during Christmas time and entered in several art exhibits. Charcoal, oil, water color, and ink were the main fields in which the future artists were interested.

The Chorus Department was kept busy this year sending groups around the community to various activities. The Madrigals, Boys' Barbershop and the Girls' Barbershop Quartettes were the more active groups.

Students Learn Panorama of Past

Mr. Wallace explains some of the Civil War battles to his U.S. History class.

Mr. Davis and David Grass explain the law of diminishing returns in Government class.

To the students of MHS a wide variety of Social Studies classes has been provided. Three of these classes, Civics, U.S. History, and Government were required while the rest were elective.

The Freshman Civics classes learned the fundamentals of good citizenship and basic governmental structure.

World History is a popular course among Sophomores. They traced the development of early civilization to our modern world.

All Juniors were enrolled in United States History classes which followed the American people from their meager beginning in the Colonial Period through the Civil War, W.W. I and II, to the present day.

Seniors were enrolled in an enlarged Government course. The students took one semester of Government and one semester of American Problems to learn the practical applications of it.

Social Problems class dug deep into the problems of the American society and explored the possible answers to these problems.

Social Studies helped prepare the MHS students to face their world with a better understanding of its character and problems.

Mrs. Wooden points out to her World History class one of the Baltic countries.

Future Homemaker Girls Prepare

The Home Ec. students, learning how to prepare well balanced meals, began their first year making breakfasts; the second year cooked luncheons; and finally complete dinners were prepared in Home Ec. 3.

Two brown hamsters were the subjects of an experiment by the fourth year students. One hamster was fed well balanced meals, while the other was fed fattening foods consisting of sweets and starches with no milk or vegetables.

Each class had clothing projects; the more advanced clothing made by Home Ec. 3 and 4.

Also, Home Ec. 2 studied home nursing, child development and food preparation, while Home Ec. 3 students devoted much of their time to marriage and family adjustment.

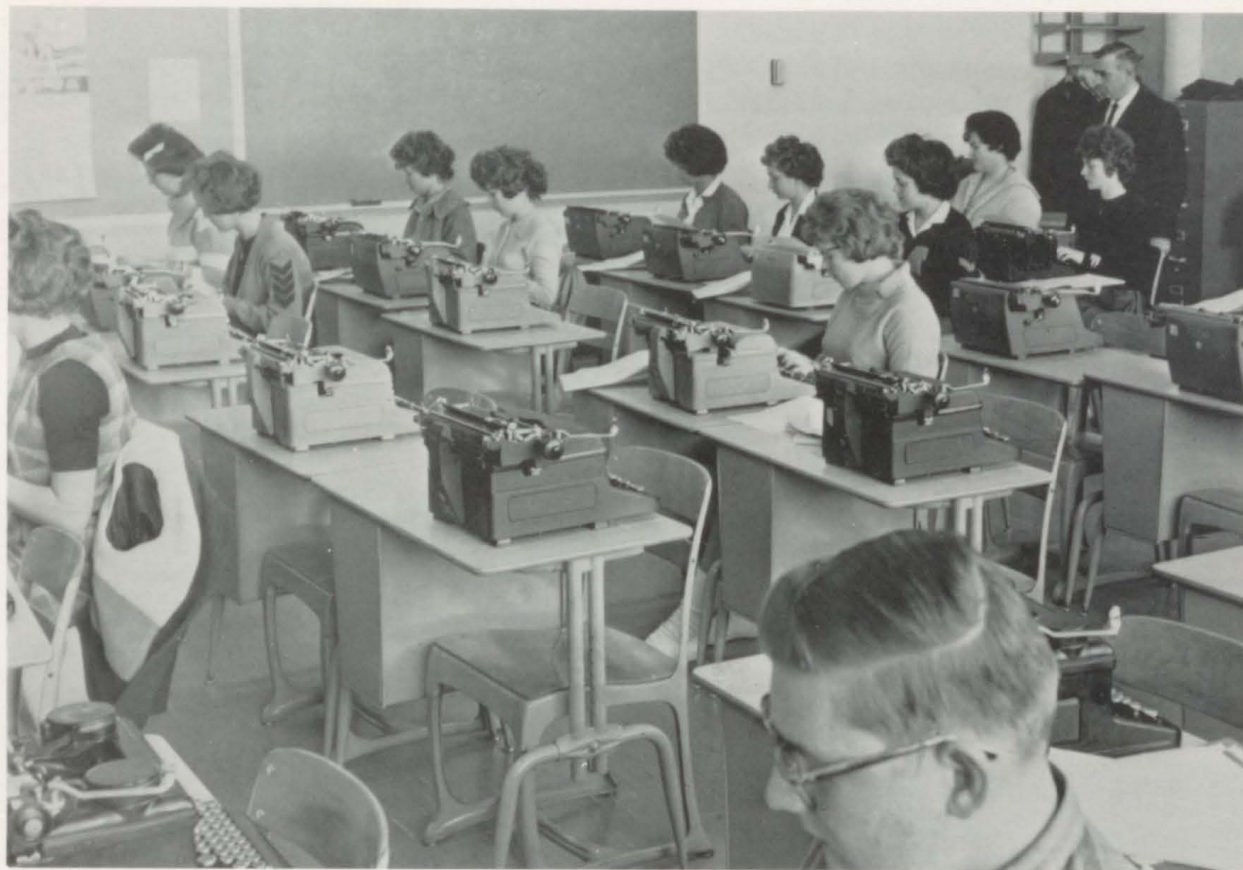

All Home Ec. classes in some way help prepare MHS students for future homemaking.

Sandy Altman demonstrates proper procedure in sewing a skirt.

LuRhe Hawkins and Bonnie Lightle prepare some tasty brownies in the modern kitchens.

Good Jobs in the Business World

Mr. Simpson keeps a watchful eye over his Typing II class.

Mrs. Cowen makes certain everyone puts his figures in the right column in Bookkeeping.

For the student preparing for the business world nine business courses were offered.

Students in Typing I learned the technique of touch typing and learned to type letters and manuscripts. In Typing II and Office Practice they gained experience in typing the numerous forms used in offices and in filing.

In Shorthand II, he was prepared to take dictation at the high speeds required in modern offices. Bookkeeping I instructed him in the system of double entry bookkeeping and Bookkeeping II provided more practice and more difficult problems to insure efficiency in record keeping. For students interested in the theory of the business world, Business Law and Consumer Economics were offered.

This year, as in the past, business students from MHS brought home honors from the Invitational Commercial Contest at Monrovia. MHS entered students in each of the four divisions—Typing I and II, Shorthand I, and Bookkeeping I.

Await Hard-Working Students

Mrs. Cowen gives dictation to her first year Shorthand students.

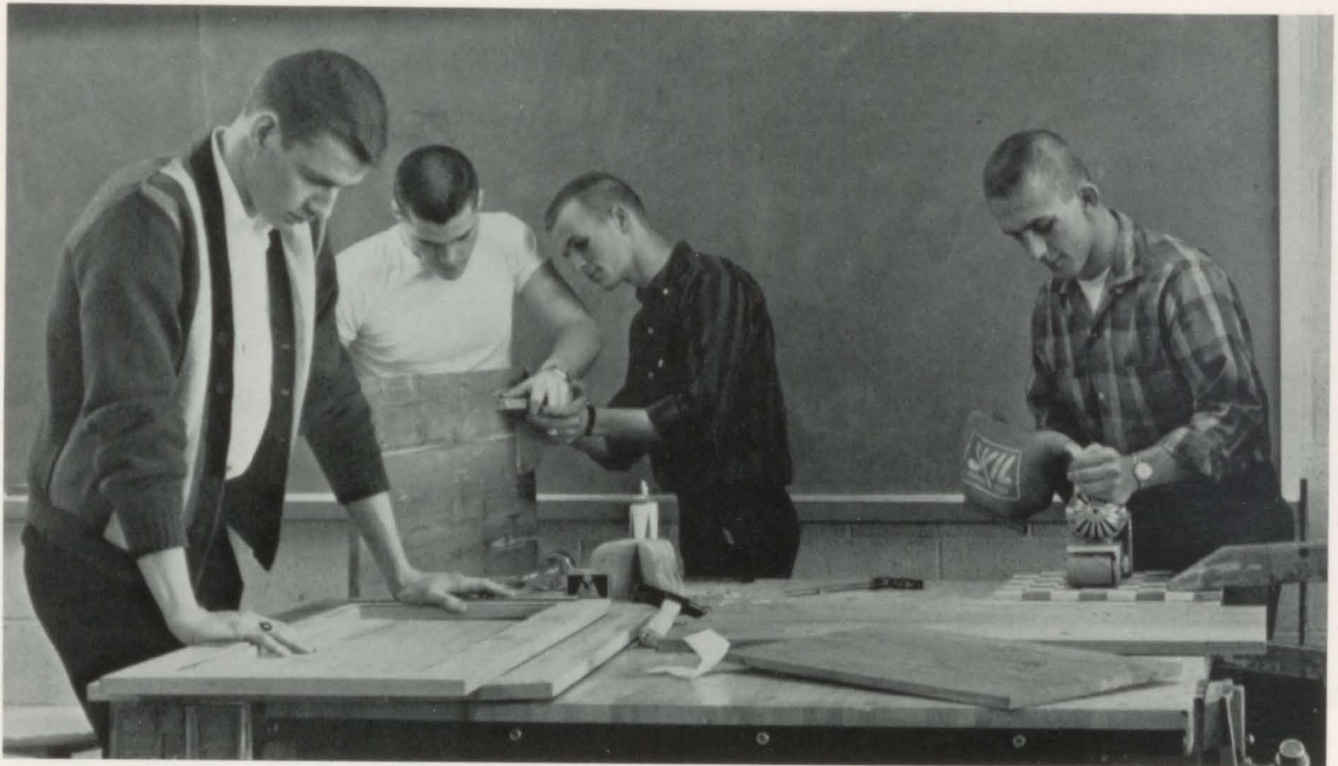

Pam Sundling knows the answer in Mr. Brown's General Business class.

Barbara Cable concentrates on her Typing I assignment.

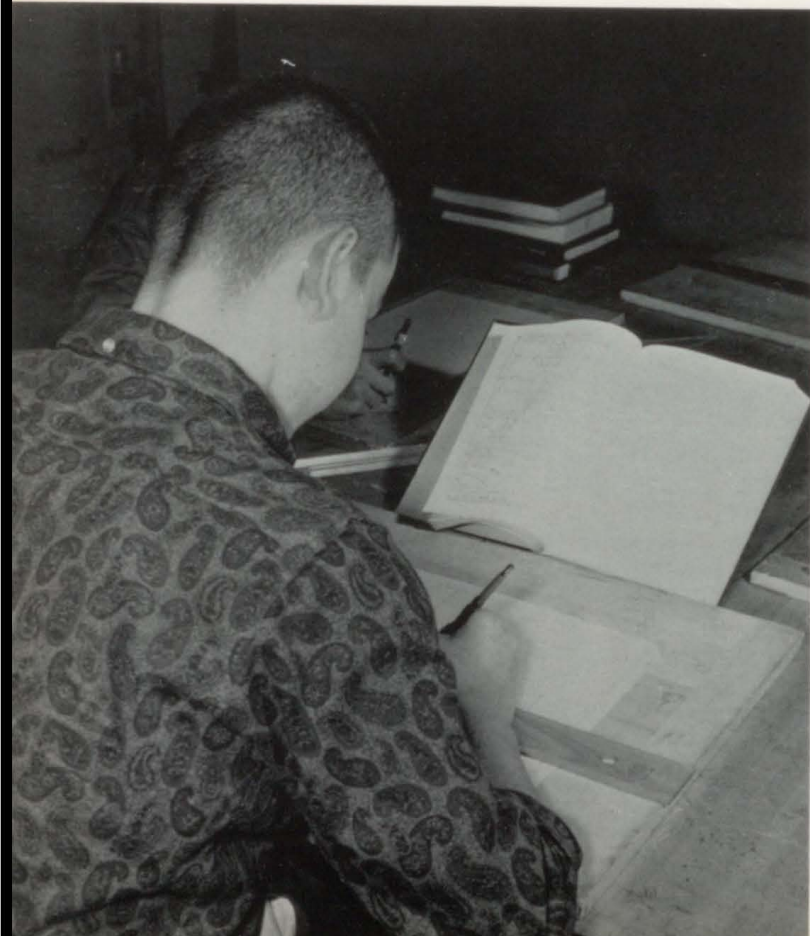

Vocational Courses Prepare

Tom Storm, Dan Hall, Steve Trusty, and Terry Kenworthy work on their projects during shop class.

Steve Saucerman carefully makes a drawing in Mechanical Drawing I.

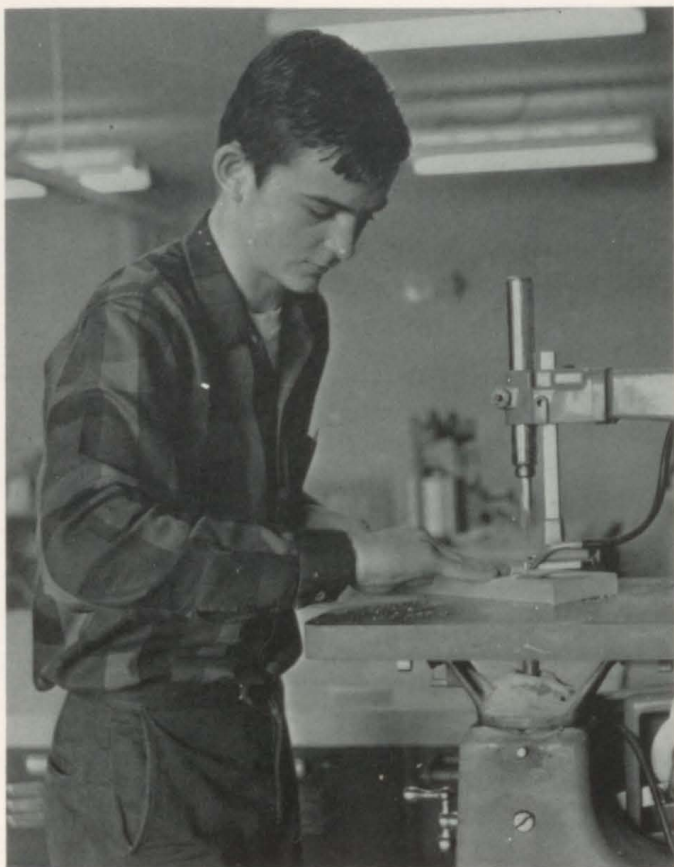

Industrial Arts at MHS include Metal Shop, Wood Shop, and Technical Drawing. The objective of the Wood Shop is to train boys in the knowledge and skills of woodworking. Before taking Wood Shop, you must have had at least one year of Technical Drawing.

Boys who enroll in Technical Drawing learn the fundamentals of drafting. The idea of this course is to draw more boys into the engineering field.

Metal Shop is now becoming more popular among the boys at MHS. The course is designed to teach the boys how to use various machines and to know its parts.

Judging contests were again the main project of the Agriculture classes this year. The boys were also in charge of the lawn around our building. During the summer the FFA organization cultivated a section of the school property to train the boys in modern farming.

Boys for Future Work

Larry Rushing cuts out a piece of wood for a bookcase on the jig saw.

Butch Brown hands Dan Hall a hack saw in the metal shop class.

Mr. Stewart shows different types of seeds to his second year Agriculture class.

Physical Fitness, Health, and Safety

Bill Lawrence demonstrates the proper way to perform artificial respiration.

The Sophomore girls' Health class watches a movie on home nursing.

The girls demonstrate their athletic prowess, too, by building a pyramid.

Train the Body as Well as the Mind

Mr. Pennington's Freshman Physical Education class demonstrate their tumbling abilities as they build a giant pyramid.

A visitor to MHS during one of the Physical Education classes would hear the gym echo with a resounding one-two-one-two. This is the sound of young bodies trying to improve their physiques or figures.

The Sophomore Health classes' primary objective is the studying of the human anatomy. This includes thorough understanding of the nervous, circulatory and many other systems. Also, by practicing proper health habits and diets, Health students learn to take better care of themselves and keep their bodies strong.

A tribute should be paid to the "bravest teacher in school," Mr. Ramey. Every day he takes his life in his hands as he teaches MHS students the correct way of driving. Not only do they learn correct driving habits, but they also are taught what to do in case of emergency.

"Taking his life in his hands," Mr. Ramey instructs proper driving procedures on snow.

It is said, "All work and no play makes Junior a dull boy."

To get a well-rounded education, not just pure book knowledge,
one must take part in other things besides studying.

Here at MHS there are many clubs and organizations to keep Junior from being a "dull boy."

These clubs give valuable experiences in many ways.

The liberal arts clubs promote more interest in their separate fields of study.

The vocational clubs teach one more about the practical aspects of homemaking and agriculture.

The sports clubs give one the opportunity to get good exercise.

The journalism organizations give valuable experiences in writing, organizing, and influencing other people.

The memories acquired from your participation in these clubs will be the memories that will be most cherished in future years.

The things you do in these organizations will be implanted
in your mind forever.

We are all a part of these activities.

MHS is a part.

They are ours.

Staff Works Hard; Uses New

Innovations to Put Out '63 WAGON TRAILS

YEARBOOK ASSISTANT EDITORS: Gail Adams, Suzanne Swineheart, Peggy Truax, Dennie Neimeier, Jeff Fenimore, and Beverly Johnson.

Several members, both official and unofficial of the yearbook staff, don't seem to be working very hard on the yearbook.

What most people don't realize is the hours and hours of work that go into each 1963 WAGON TRAILS. No one can feel the discomforts of working until 12 to 1 a.m. every night for a week, trying to meet that deadline. No one knows how many pictures must be taken, selected, and cropped to fit the space provided for them. The hours spent selling ads, writing copy, typing, and drawing layouts cannot be counted.

But then that time which comes every August lets it be known that all the time, toil, and tears were worth it. It is the time when we'll all say, "The '63 WAGON TRAILS is here."

Who, What, When, Where, Why

Carolyn Thompson, Business Manager; Miss Millican, Sponsor; Gan Fields, Editor; and Arline Miller, Assistant Editor; proofread the layout of a CAMPUS CRIER before it is printed.

Typists Arline Miller, Susan Swinehart, Sharon Bellamy, Louetta Chowning, and Pam Joyner check to see that the copy is finaled correctly.

Meeting a deadline every two weeks, the CAMPUS CRIER staff soon conquered their problems and turned out a good newspaper.

A new printing process was started this year. A Davidson photo copier was purchased to make plates for the Multigraph printing press. The new "monster" saved as much as 90% of the cost of making the plates.

For the first time this year the CRIER had an editor for each page. This lessened the load on the Editor-in-Chief and gave valuable experience to other people.

Belonging to the National Honor Society are twelve seniors and seven juniors. These students are active in school clubs and outside activities and strive to render service, promote leadership, and encourage the development of character in fellow students. This is one of the highest honors conferred at Mooresville High School.

As a nation, city, and state need a government so does Mooresville High School. This is the job of the Student Council. These students are elected by their respective classes and have the responsibility of expressing the students' view. The Council attended the State Student Council Convention again and also distributed food to the needy families during the yule season.

Singing Becomes Very Popular

GIRLS' BARBERSHOP QUARTETTE—SEATED: Melinda Warriner.
STANDING: Jo Ann Neal, Frances Flick, Margie Hribar.

The Girls' Barbershop Quartette sang at various events during the past year. Among those were singing to the troops at Fort Benjamin Harrison, the patients at LaRue Carter Hospital, and the highlight of the year—singing on the Curly Myers show on TV.

BOYS' BARBERSHOP QUARTETTE—Dave White, Ron Flick, Stan O'Hair, Gary Chitwood.

The Boys' Barbershop Quartette received a first place rating at the State Solo and Ensemble Contest held at Butler University.

They have also performed at various events in the community.

A new group, the Pep Band, was organized this year. They helped the student body to back the Pioneers during the pep sessions and at the half and between games of all the basketball games.

The Kadettes, an added attraction to the marching band, performed at home football games and various other events during the past year.

In April, the band and the Kadettes helped to produce "Musical Varieties of '63."

Cheerblock Promotes Game Spirit

"Go, team, Go!" Throughout the school year this familiar sound followed the athletic teams to victory. The cheerblock, sponsored by Miss Robbins, was responsible for boosting the team spirit and attendance at all ball games.

For the first basketball game of the season, the cheerblock and especially the cheerleaders worked hard to present a night pep session and bonfire for the boys.

As one of the best pep clubs at the Sectionals, the MHS cheerblock wore blue pennants, with their regular white blouses. All of the members have a right to be proud of their accomplishments as well as the school.

JUNIOR VARSITY CHEERLEADERS—Sharon Morrison, Linda Miller, Linda Smith, Barbara Cable.

The Girls' Athletic Association was one of the busiest clubs in school. They took many trips to take in all fields of sports. Their interests included: swimming, tennis, golf, bowling, basketball, badminton, volleyball, and archery.

The Lettermen's Club was very active in sports events. They helped at each basketball game as ticket-takers and ushers. At each game and at noon time students could always refresh themselves by buying ice cream which the club sold. They had their annual spring picnic which ended a fine year.

Approximately fifty girls worked very hard to make another successful year for FHA. Among their accomplishments were the receiving of Honor Chapter ratings from the state organization, two chili suppers, a cheer basket for the needy, and a very successful spring dance, Springtime Fantasy. The girls certainly have an organization they can be proud of.

The Future Farmers of America of MHS and their advisor, Mr. Stewart, can be credited with the fine improvement of our school lawn and shrubs. They formed a basketball team and they played other FFA chapters, which proved to be lots of fun. They finished out their active year by having a slave sell that was enjoyed by all who participated.

Students — Adults Work Together

Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. Copeland, Mrs. Knapp, and Mrs. Marsh seem to be enjoying some of their wares.

These student cafeteria helpers labored many hours to ease the stress trying to get through the lunch line. These students worked in the cafeteria in their free periods, and helped serve the meals prepared by the cooks.

Our school custodians, Mr. Cooper, Mr. Downey, Mr. Fields, and Mr. Blanton worked hard keeping the building clean and neat all year.

Nothing makes the blood stir or causes the heart to pound as the crack
of a hard wood bat against a horsehide ball or a basketball swishing through the nets or the crunch of cleats into frost bitten ground
as an oblong pigskin arches gracefully through the air.

There are many pros and cons concerning athletics, but it still remains an excellent crucible for tempering the necessary characteristics of sportsmanship,
integrity,
teamwork
and a spirit of competition.

Many of the unforgettable moments of our school years concern our participation in or observation of sports.

Senior halfback, Dave White, crosses the goal line, untouched, for a Pioneer touchdown.

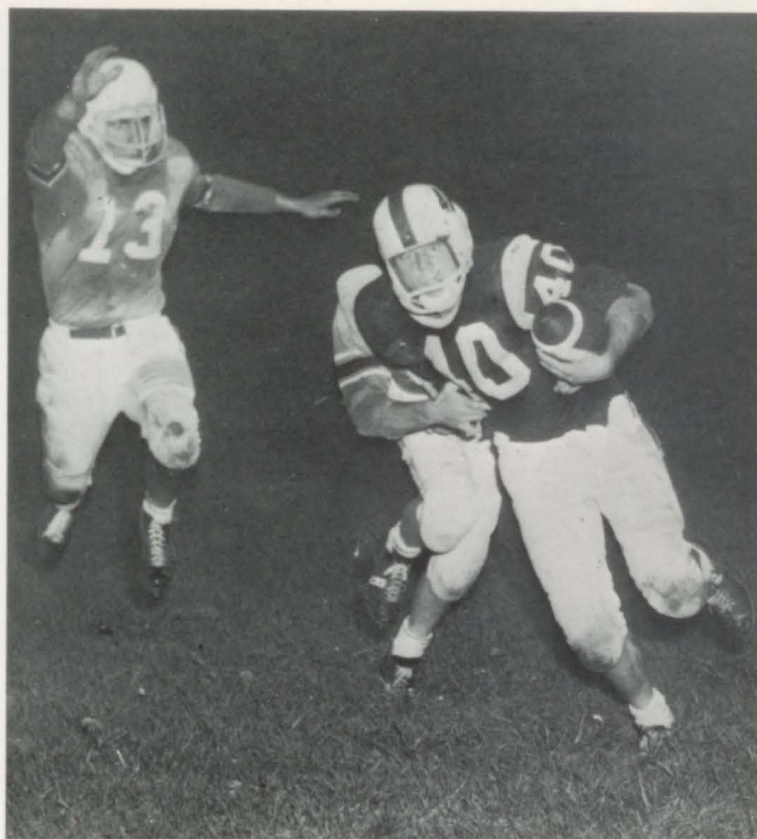

The 1963 varsity football season had many ups and downs, happiness and disappointments, bumps and bruises. Each game was played with determination and spirit to win. They won three games beating Center Grove, Avon, and winning a homecoming victory over Edinburg. There were two close defeats by Brownsburg and arch-rival Plainfield. In the games with Danville, University, Greenwood, and Decatur, the Pioneers could not get started but gave each of them a good game. Although this was not a winning season, the 1963 football team was a team to be proud of.

The Cross Country Team was formed for the first time this year. Coached by Ken Pennington, the distance runners compiled an impressive 9-1 season record, losing only their first meet to Speedway.

In scoring, the first place runner receives one point while the second runner is awarded two, etc., so the team with the lowest score wins.

13-7 Record Shows Improved Team

The Varsity basketball team this year, for the first time, had navy blue blazers to wear after the ball games.

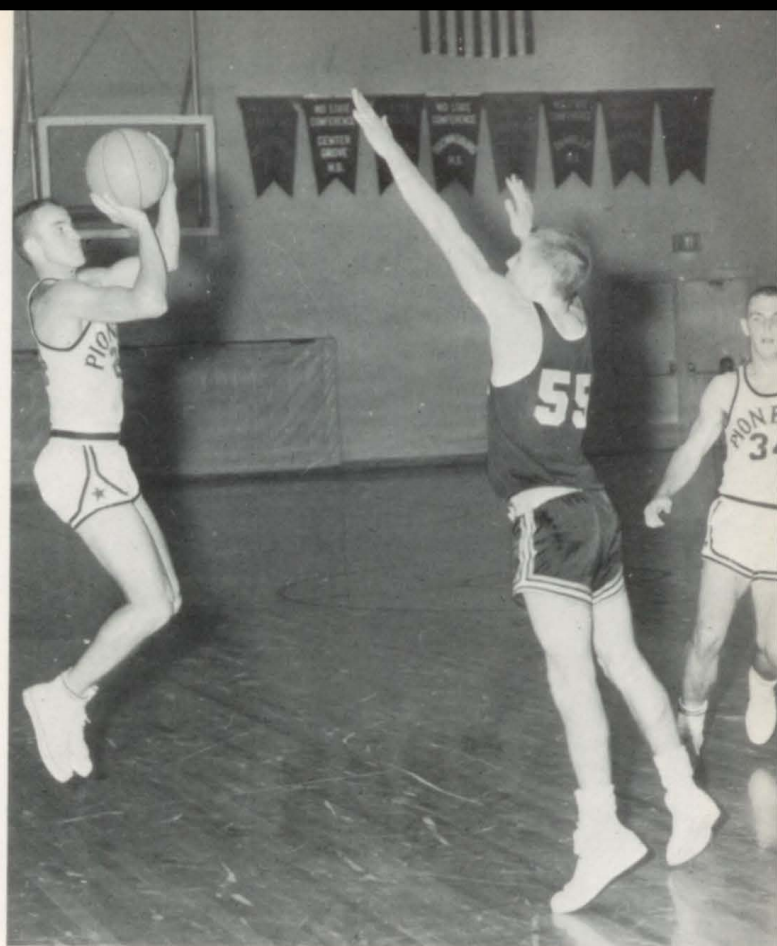

Our 6' 3" center Dave Grass fires a two-pointer against Monrovia.

The Varsity cagers had a very good season this year, compiling a much improved 13-7 season record. The team consisted of ten well-balanced players, according to Mr. Ken Pennington, who coached the Mooresville varsity for his third year.

The record was 11-2 before a slump of four games in a row. Then the boys battled for two wins and a loss to end the regular season. A good conference start of 2-1 turned out a rather sad 2-5 at the end of the season. Some of the most exciting games of the season were with Martinsville, Spencer, Ellettsville, Decatur Central and Edinburg. In all of these contests, the score was very close near the end of the game, and Mooresville won all but one of them. With what might be considered a bad sectional draw, the Pioneers ended their basketball season with their first sectional game.

Forward Mike Free scores on a lay up against Avon.

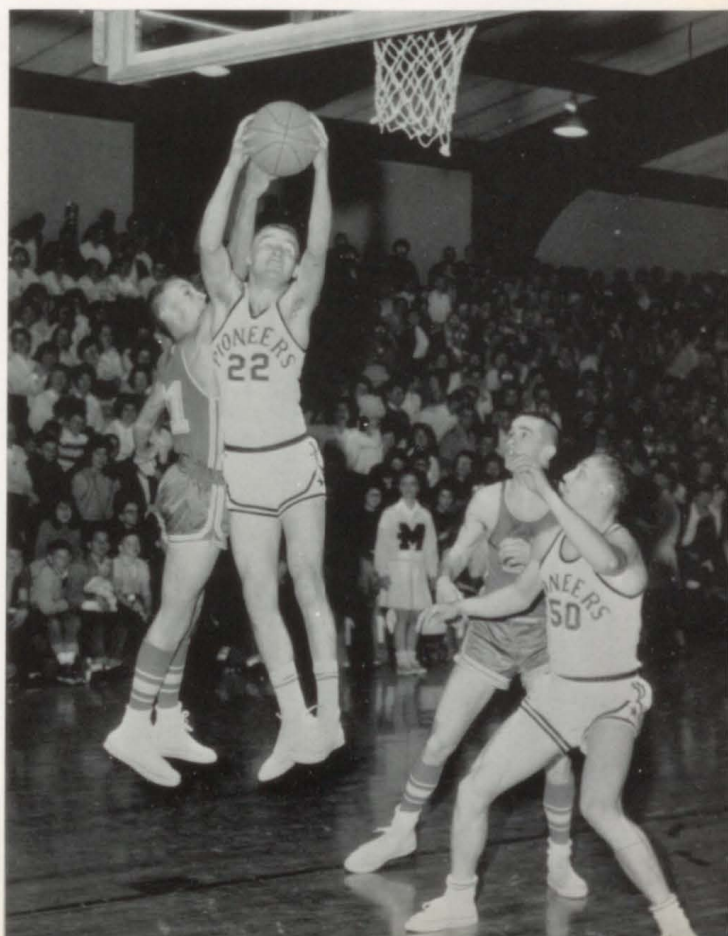

Randall Parker scores two with his well-known jump shot.

The MHS track team had one of the most outstanding seasons in several years, by winning seven and losing only two. The team also placed third in the Mid-State Conference Meet which was held at Washington High School in Indianapolis.

The only losses came against Mid-State champ Plainfield and runner-up Decatur Central.

The 880 relay team, which was composed of Seniors Dave White, Tom Sisk, Terry Kenworthy, and Ron Flick, set a new all-time school record of 1:37 for the half-mile distance.

Senior Terry Kenworthy came within two-tenths of a second of equaling the school record in his specialty, the 440 yard dash.

All the Seniors will be missed next year although several underclassmen placed consistently in the various events.

With the new junior high track program, next year's team should show promise of building for the future with an undefeated group of eighth graders.

A personality is a wispy mystical intangible something that each of us have.
We are not real sure
where we got it,
or how long we may keep the one we have,
or what effect
the years may have upon it.

Whatever it is,
we use it as a yardstick
in our estimation of others.

Intangible as personalities may be,
they, we will remember
long after the years have dimmed our recollection of dates and names.

Administration's Hard Work

Our popular Principal, Mr. Jack Farr, always was available when one of the students had a problem.

Due to the hard work of the school's fine administration, this past year proved to be a smooth running year. The combined efforts of the Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent, Principal, Deans, and Secretaries helped bring this into being.

In the Superintendent's office, Mr. Bell, Mr. Smith, and the secretaries labored long and hard solving any problems that might arise and attending to the needs of the school system.

In his high school office, Mr. Farr helped bind the students and faculty into a closely knit group.

For the first year we had a Dean of Boys and Dean of Girls. Mr. Steckel and Mrs. Orth attended to the organization of all school activities.

Mr. East, the Guidance Counselor, gave aptitude tests and helped all the students plan for their future life.

Mr. East, Mrs. Orth, and Mr. Steckel guided the students during their school days.

Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Call, and Mrs. Cross handled the business of the school office.

Makes Smooth Running School

Mr. Harold Bell, School Superintendent, guides the school system over any rough spots.

Assistant School Superintendent, Mr. Ned Smith, helps Mr. Bell with his busy schedule.

Mrs. Burlingame (top) and Mrs. Bradford (bottom) are secretaries for the Superintendent.

Though their senior year is finished, the graduates will always have the memories of four wonderful fun-packed years.

These memories include the first day as a freshman and the pride we felt in knowing that we were the first class that would go through all four years in the new high school. Proms, class parties, sports, and class rings also make up our memories.

Graduates will carry these memories with them wherever they go, whether it be college, a job, or marriage.

The class will never again be all together but they will all remember the class motto—True Wisdom is to Know What is Best Worth Knowing and to do What is Best Worth Doing.

Edna Mae Richardson, Treasurer; Charles Pennington, President; Arline Miller, Secretary; and Sandy Altman, Vice President, served as senior class officers.

Mooreville is a town.
All over the United States there are thousands upon thousands of towns.

Many are smaller,
many are larger.
Many are dirtier,
many are cleaner.
Many are uglier,
many are prettier.
Many are colder,
many are hotter.
Many are wetter,
many are drier.

But Mooreville has one factor for you and me
that makes it stand out among all of the other thousands of towns, everywhere.
Mooreville is home.
