Week by Week

10 months. 37 weeks. 180 days. 1,260 hours. 75,600 minutes. 4,536,000 seconds. Okay, you understand that there is a lot of school throughout the year. But, when you include field trips, fierce competition at games, all the spectacular performances, club meetings and the weekends in between all of that, the school year passes by so fast. Sometimes, you are unable to recall what happened.

That will no longer be an issue (well maybe for some). Now, instead of not being able to reminisce with your friends, you have the following pages to remind yourself when someone says, "Oh, remember that day when...?"

No more days of being out-of-the-know and feeling embarrassed that you don't know what is going on. So take a look inside and remember of all the events that happened at MHS in the 2008-2009 school year.

Album

As the dreaded picture day approaches, most of us find ourselves picking out the perfect outfit the night before, getting up a little early to put a bit more effort than usual into our appearance and making sure no gigantic blemish appeared overnight.

All that preparation just for ten seconds in front of a camera. After the "one, two, three" and the blinding, flashing light, the thought comes into your mind, "That picture will be in the yearbook for eternity. Was I smiling? Were my eyes closed? Did I have anything in my teeth?"

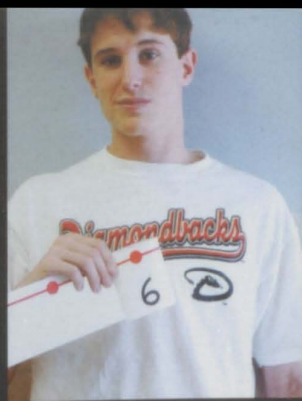

While some hope the answers to those questions are "yes" so they will be known as the class clown, others only have this thought: "Thank goodness for retakes."

Europe

From Indiana to Germany, through Italy, past Morocco, into Spain, and ending at the Eiffel Tower, six students took a trip of a lifetime and came home with more than they ever expected.

"France was my favorite because it had all the top shopping places and huge buildings, but I also liked Italy because of the country side," senior student body president Mackenzie Wiser said.

For eight days, former MHS spanish teachers Mrs. Maureen Wehmeier and Mrs. Kori Swalls took six students on an around-the-world tour. These students included Molly Adams, Kristin Bowlby, Jordan Bryant, Gabriella Gioe, Matt Hendrickson and Mackenzie Wiser.

"Swimming in the Mediterranean Sea [was my favorite part]," Gioe said.

As the crew traveled across the country, Italy was their second destination.

"In Italy, we went to a small town and went into little shops, but it was really expensive," Bowlby said.

But that's not the only thing they remember about Italy.

"The Italian food wasn't really good, American Italian is way better," Gioe said.

A great past time on the trip was the Fanny Pack game.

"Almost all the foreign people wore fanny packs," Bowlby said. "We got points for how they wore their packs."

As the trip came to an end and the travelers returned home, the memories were still with them.

"If you ever get a chance to go, you definitely should," Bowlby said. "It was amazing." -HALEY LOECHEL

Burning Up for Jonas

Seniors Elyse McIntosh, Brittany Johnson and sister Kasey Johnson met the Jonas Brothers on July 23, 2008, by winning a question contest sponsored by Verizon.

"It was my fourth time meeting them, but I was really stoked because I just won a contest out of like 400 people," senior Elyse McIntosh said.

Brittany Johnson was also excited.

"[My favorite part was] watching Elyse freak out and plus they are really hot," Johnson said. -DANIELLE WOODING

Fun in the Sun

For one week, the Mens Baseball team went to California for the South Coast Classic Baseball Tournament.

"I played baseball and ran 10 miles on the beach with no shoes," said senior Marcus Merrick.

Everything went well, except an incident with a high tide that almost left three of the players in the middle of the ocean. Matt Gibson, Matt's dad, and Marcus Merrick had to be rescued by lifeguards.

"The rip tide was really strong and was pulling us under, we almost drowned," Merrick said.

Throughout the trip, the team played well in hopes of increasing their play in the game.

"We have six returning seniors, so I think the varsity team will be really strong [this upcoming season]," Merrick said. -KELSEY GROCE

Summer Jobs for High Prices

With a sudden raise in gas prices, many MHS students and teachers opted to get a summer job.

"I worked at the Indy Aquatic Center, playing with the little kids and teaching them to swim [was my favorite part]," junior Chanel Burpo said.

Most people got jobs to offset the high gas price phenomenon. Before summer, gas prices were around two dollars a gallon. However, in the summer, gas prices jumped to a whopping four dollars a gallon.

"I was the Driver's Education teacher for students this summer," gym teacher Mr. Steve Hilligoss said. "I enjoy teaching the class because the children want to be there to get their driver's permits and the extra money helps supplement my income because I have two kids in college".

Junior Lexi Burris worked at Carlisle and Son Funeral Home over the summer.

"I wanted to know what my job would be like, since it's my career choice," Burris said.

"Many different and exciting things happen every day, it was an unforgettable experience."

Not all students work for money, some MHS students volunteer their time without getting paid. Summer jobs help students gain maturity and responsibility growing up in high school and leading on into the real world. -DANIELLE WOODING

"I volunteered at a boy scout camp," junior Mike George said. "I taught the kids how to tie knots and how to build fires. [My favorite part was] seeing the kids' faces when they finally got it. I would love to do it again."

Mudd: Willing to Go the Distance

"It was really fun besides the 100 meter dash," senior Austin Mudd said.

On July 14, 2008, Mudd was sent to Fort Jackson. Fort Jackson is located in South Carolina and is the largest and most active initial entry training center in the U.S. Army.

Mudd said he wants to become an Air Traffic Controller because its a good carrier and the Army can help him do that.

"My two brothers influenced me," Mudd said. "They are also in the Army."

As of 2008, Mudd has not been deployed, but says he will be ready and excited when he is called to duty.

I Bleed Blue with Passion

As the clock strikes 12:01 a.m., senior quarterback Tyler Bless leads the Pioneer Football team out onto the game field. The team has the same rituals and practice routines every year.

"It's the first of the last practice," senior Jeff Bonnewell said. "Midnight practice is the first official start of my senior year, and it's a great motivational practice to continue working hard the rest of the season."

Another Pioneer football tradition is the blue and white scrimmage.

"This is a way for the coaches to see who can play where and what roles they can fill," junior Seth Myrick said.

The coaches place the boys depending on skill and try to divide the teams evenly. The white team brought home the first victory of season, with hopes of continuing its winning streak. -DANIELLE WOODING

We are ORANGE...
Feel the excitement before an important game, the warm feeling of accomplishment after a big win. Orange encompasses the life of a Friday night football game, the adrenaline rush that the players experience before charging the field, the cheerleaders cheering for the team, the fans jumping on their feet after a big play, and everything around the Friday night event.

New Traditions

Senior Sunrise has a successful turnout

For seniors, the 2008 school year started off early in the morning with a brand new tradition. The seniors met on the practice football field around 6 a.m. to watch the sunrise.

"[The senior sunrise] was a lot of fun. It was really cool to be able to watch the sunrise with [my] senior class and spend the first day together," senior Megan White said.

Many students were excited to be the first class to participate in the new tradition.

"It's great to see that our senior class has started a tradition that classes in the future will hopefully look to," senior Jordan Surenkamp said.

Donuts and juice were sold for 50 cents each to help raise money for National Honor Society. Senior class president Mackenzie Wiser also made a small speech to the senior participants and photos were taken of the class of 2009.

"The senior sunrise was a lot of fun and it was really neat to have so many of our seniors come to participate. Watching the sunrise was definitely cool, but it was even more exciting that we had a great turnout, and hopefully there will be an even better turnout at the end of the year when we watch the sunset together," Wiser said.

Wednesday: Early Wednesday morning, the Senior class of 2009 met on the practice football field to watch the sunrise together.

Thursday: Sisters Jacquie Bantley and Lindsey Bantley pose for a picture before their intense match vs. Perry Meridian and Greenwood. "This is my last year playing with my sister. I'm going to miss it a lot. We had so much fun together," sophomore Lindsey Bantley said.

Friday: The Varsity Football players prepared to battle Columbus North at the scrimmage.

Saturday: The Varsity Cheerleading Squad competed in the Annual State Fair Competition. Although they didn't place, they still had a lot of fun. "I think it went well. All of our stunts and tumbling hit. It was good to end the summer with one final, solid routine," junior Kaitlin Utley said.

Week 1

[ you PROVIDE the WEEK ]

[Monday 8-18]

Womans Golf played well, winning against Monrovia 182-206. Womens Varsity Soccer also played well, beating Edgewood 8-1.

[Tuesday 8-19]

JV Volleyball played well against Monrovia, winning both matches. Varsity Volleyball also played well, winning all three games against Monrovia. To end the day, Mens Tennis participated very well in their matches against Owen Valley, winning 4-1.

[Wednesday 8-20]

Sarah Vaughn turned 18, celebrating her birthday with her close friends. "The highlight of my birthday was getting to open my presents, because of the gag gifts I got," senior Sarah Vaughn said. The Womans Varsity Soccer team played a good game against Decatur Central, but ended up losing 6-3.

[Thursday 8-21]

Mr. Neese's senior English classes made play dough figures representing villians before they read the epic Beowulf. Mens Tennis competed against Beech Grove in a close match, playing strong in the beginning but letting the win slip away in the end.

[Friday 8-22]

The Varsity Football team won their game against Lebanon, with the defense playing extremely well. Junior Josh Teague intercepted a pass, then returned it for a touchdown, making the final score 20-6.

[Saturday 8-23]

The Womans Varsity Soccer team lost 3-1 against Danville. The team had a rough start but ended up playing well in the end.

Hero vs. Villain

If you could create your own hero or villain, what would it be? The students of Mr. Wesley Neese's senior English classes got to do exactly that.

The students were to create their own hero or villain using play-dough. The goal was for the students to read the epic tale of Beowulf and create what they thought was a hero or villain based off of the story. Their choice of hero or villains would be compared to the villain of the story, Grendel, or the hero, Beowulf himself. The lesson was meant to teach the students to see how difficult it was to be creative.

"I had everything from an individual hero or villain to whole scenes created with backgrounds, castles, and scenery. Some of my students went all out," said Neese.

Two of Neese's senior English students created a hero that they titled 'Hero Pig'.

"Devon Fisher and I made a hero pig for our project, because we thought it would be funny," said senior Riley Howden.

"It was hard to come up with an idea at first, but once we started it wasn't that bad."

Week 2

Last school year, 2007-2008, a new club was formed through the efforts of 2008 graduating senior Teresa Wright and sponsor Ms. Joyce Gilly. Only starting with nine members, they grew to a whopping 30 interested students at the first meeting of the following school year, August 2008. Later in August, the previous year's members were surprised with a great honor, Chapter of the Year for the Midwest. And not too long after, they were awarded with the Civic Achievement Award, a prestigious award that came with a nice chunk of change. They were a new club with big plans and that they were able to execute with great results.

"[Winning Chapter of the Year] was really unexpected ... And I think we have potential to maintain our title." -Sophomore Amy Anderson

JSA

In the 2007-2008 school year, a new club was formed through the efforts of 2008 graduating senior Teresa Wright, Junior State of America (JSA).

"I started JSA after attending Hoosier Girls State, which initially got me interested in the political process. I'm assuming that from my HGS experience, someone from JSA got my information because one day I received an information packet in the mail about JSA. It looked like a great program so I took the idea to Ms. [Joyce] Gilly and she loved it. I really wanted to get people informed about how our government works and discuss some important issues. I learned a lot from Hoosier Girls State and I wanted everyone else to learn like I did, and JSA seemed like the way to go. Since the state of Indiana has very few JSA chapters, there was not a whole lot of higher level management in the JSA program to help us, so we got most everything started all by ourselves. When we showed up to the Mid-West Spring State, everyone seemed really surprised that we had accomplished so much and come so far," Wright said.

In late August, JSA was honored with Chapter of the Year in the Midwest and the first annual National Civic Impact Award. The National Civic Impact Award recognizes the JSA chapter that has had the biggest impact on increasing the level of civic awareness and engagement at their school. Mooresville's JSA chapter was chosen from eight other finalists across the country.

"It was a wonderful moment. I was amazed that we were chosen over all the member schools. Under Teresa Wright's leadership, JSA had an amazing year and I feel we truly had a positive impact on our community," JSA sponsor Ms. Joyce Gilly said.

JSA received the award after an intense review process. A panel of judges, consisting of trustees of The Junior Statesmen Foundation and former Governors of the Junior State, evaluated the materials sent in by the finalists and Mooresville came out ahead.

"We sent in a video presentation in which we all discussed what we did in all of our chapter activities," senior Adam Hakes said.

With their experiences and hard work, their presentation wowed the judges.

"Mooresville High School

brings to JSA what the Tesla Roadster brings to electric cars. A Tesla goes from 0 - 60 mph in 3.9 seconds using no gasoline, and the student leaders at Mooresville built a world-class JSA chapter in six months with very little outside resources. For a small high school in Indiana to create such a vibrant chapter that serves as the hub of civic engagement for both the school and its community is nothing short of amazing," one of the judges said. (jsa.org)

By winning the award, JSA received a $2,000 grant to continue their civic engagement programs and Ms. Gilly received a $500 stipend. JSA continued their involvement by hosting several programs and participating in many activities including, a voter registration drive, mock election and going to Winter Congress in Washington D.C.

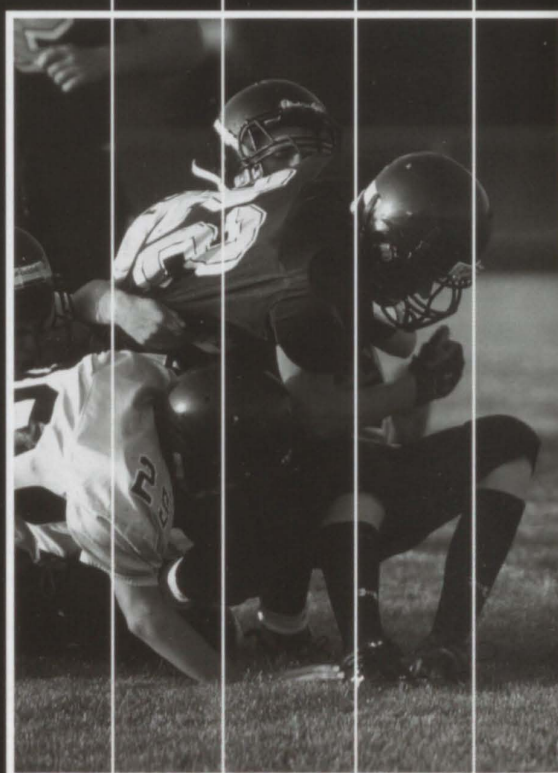

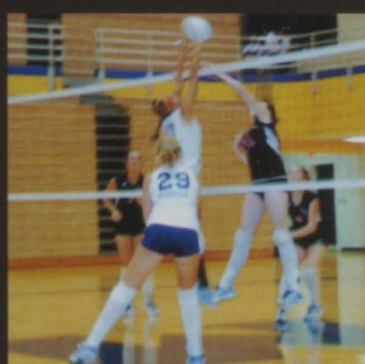

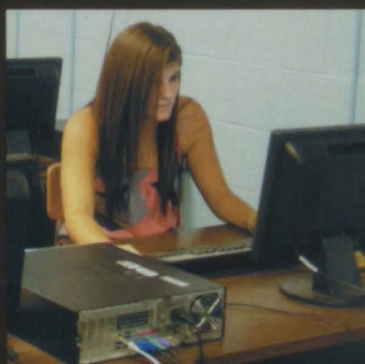

Wright's hope for the future of JSA is that they continue to grow and get people involved and informed. But as much as they may grow in the future, she hopes they don't forget their roots and the reason why they participate in JSA.

Sophomore Amy Anderson will continue to participate in JSA.

"JSA is so much fun, and it is such a good program. We have grown a lot and I will continue to be a part of it," Anderson said.

"I also hope to see one of Mooresville's members become a JSA leader at the regional level as they gain more insight into how the organization is run. I hope that Mooresville's chapter continues its outreach program and gets local high schools started with JSA chapters and spreads JSA throughout Indiana. It's a fantastic program that benefits a lot of people. As for the chapter's impact on the whole of MHS, JSA's motto states, 'Democracy is not a spectator sport,' and the only way to make change and see it through is to get involved," Wright said. -RACHEL MARTINELLI

Varsity Soccer Team Goes to Poland, Indiana

The Varsity Womens Soccer team really bonded when they had their first ever annual soccer campout.

"It was like a practice, but also it was a lot of fun," junior Carla Ronan said.

The women played many pranks on their coach, Jason Damron.

"One of the best pranks we did was when we waited until he [Coach Damron] was asleep and then we snuck over to his trailer and zip-tied it shut," junior Jackie Goodman said.

The campout was a great way to turn the season around.

"Well, at that point in our season, we just weren't playing to our full potential, and, with girls, it's not always about the skill, it's about being emotionally sound; so I believe that the campout was a great way to bond and really become a team," Coach Jason Damron said.

In all, the campout was a great way to get the team back on track and really helped with the girls' mind-set.

- ELYSE MCINTOSH & LYDIA WATHEN

"It was fun and really exciting! We did a lot of stuff as a team that I probably would not have done by myself."

[ you PROVIDE the WEEK ]

[Monday]

Labor Day is the celebration of the dignity and value of work, and the role it plays in the American way of life. Therefore, school was not in session.

[Tuesday]

The Womens JV and Varsity Volleyball teams played Greenwood, with JV winning 1 out of 3 matches and the Varsity Volleyball team winning 1 out of 4. Mrs. Eickhoff's English 12 class had a guest speaker, Ceri Waite from Liverpool, England. Mrs. Manion's Algebra II classes played a game to help better understand geometric probability.

[Wednesday]

The Womens Soccer C-team lost against Brownsburg with a score of 0-1. On the other hand, the Womens Varsity Soccer team won against Greenwood with a score of 7-0.

[Thursday]

The Womens Golf team had a match against Southport. They lost by one point, 190-191. The Biology II classes had a penny lab. "I had a great partner; it was very interesting and I had a great time," junior Laura Lindstrom said.

[Friday]

The Varsity Football team played Decatur in one of the largest rival games of the season. Mooresville dominated with a score of 31-13. "It's always good to beat Decatur," senior Tom Gastino said.

[Saturday]

BONI

The Boys Soccer team finished the season off with a record of 5-1-7.

They bonded well throughout the season.

"The bus rides were the one place where the team always got along," junior Kellen Mowery and senior Ryan Skora said.

The team always played hard.

"Ryan likes to set the tone of the game with a few hard fouls. This gets in the other team's head and distracts them from the game," Mowery said.

"We had to prove to everyone that we could win," senior goalkeeper Robert Whyte said.

"We came out and fought."

Each boy brought their own touch to the team. Junior Britt Morris showed that he was a dynamic athlete when he was involved in both the soccer and cross country team during the fall athletic season.

"After soccer practices, I would run with the cross country coach, Adam Hook, for training. I have been running track for a few years, I wanted to become a better runner so I joined the cross country team. When I didn't have a soccer game on the days of cross meets I would run in the meets," Morris said.

"Knowing each other well helps us, because we know what the other one is going to do. This gives us a 'winning edge' Mowery and Skora said.

"When we step on the field we let them know it's our house."

In The Words of Max Bailey

"Our senior night was something I had been looking forward to ever since I was a freshman. It started off normal with all the normal festivities, but as soon as the game started everything changed. We played Shelbyville, and they're not normally a big deal. But the game was more like a fight. Shelbyville was playing really cheap. Me, being a captain and playing in the middle, I got the ball a lot, and every time I got the ball, two or three Shelbyville players would try to trip or hit me. A few fights broke out and quite a few players got hurt. Our Senior night was one of the craziest games."

Helping hands

Cadet teaching is a popular class for seniors, whether they want to become a teacher or not. Some took the class to get a step closer to their goal of becoming an elementary teacher, whereas others took the class for an extra credit. Either way, cadet teaching is a good way to get involved with younger children. Most of the cadets feel that the children look up to them as role models.

"My responsibilities are to help when needed and also to do 'circle time', where we learn the months, days of the week, and what the weather is like outside," senior Stephanie Torres said.

Being a cadet teacher doesn't always mean teaching the class, however, you still learn the important details just by being in the classroom. One of our seniors, Cori Stanley, is one cadet who does plan on becoming a teacher after high school.

"I want to go to college to be a teacher, so I thought it would give me a chance to see what it would be like. It's surprising all the things you learn from younger kids just by listening to them," Stanley said. -TAYLOR OSWALT & KATIE STUCKEY

The Girls Golf team won their match against Indian Creek and celebrated their win along with their annual senior night. Mrs. Jennifer Perkins' sociology classes presented projects over the cultural differences of other countries.

"I think that anyone who enjoys working with children should cadet teach, whether they want to teach or not. It teaches you to look at things from different perspectives," - senior Brittany Todd

Tuesday 9-9 Sophomores of Mrs. Sharon Eickhoff's English classes made bookmarks to keep track of their reading.

Wednesday 9-10 Students of Ms. Jill Mirabelli's Spanish III classes had the opportunity to make extra credit piñatas.

Thursday 9-11 The Mens Varsity Soccer team was defeated by Martinsville after a close game of 4-1. The Industrial Arts classes constructed towers.

Friday 9-12 The Varsity Football team won their game against Franklin Community with a final score of 29-0.

Saturday 9-13 Mens Varsity Soccer faced Terre Haute North and walked away with a victory of 3-0.

On the Air

Radio show broadcasts from Ben Davis.

In September, junior Luke Petty made a big step in his work at Ben Davis. Petty began his own radio show.

"I go to Ben Davis the first four class periods of the day," Petty said.

He studied the TV/Radio fields, and it really changed the way he feels about his future.

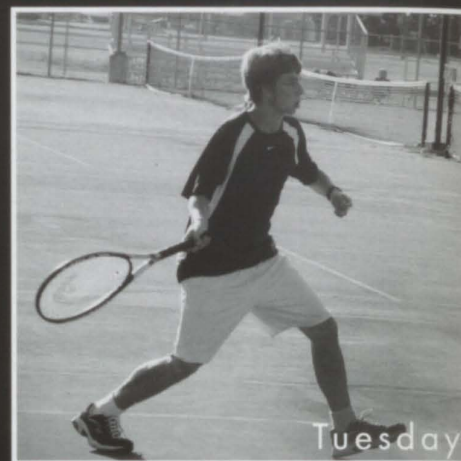

"It really made me reconsider what I would do when I graduated," Petty said.

Petty's radio show aired every weekend, playing different types of music each day.

"Luke Petty is doing really well as a student. We provide students with programming, and he utilizes the opportunity to air on the weekends," Ben Davis teacher Mr. Jon Easter said.

"Saturday is modern music, and Sunday I play oldies," Petty said.

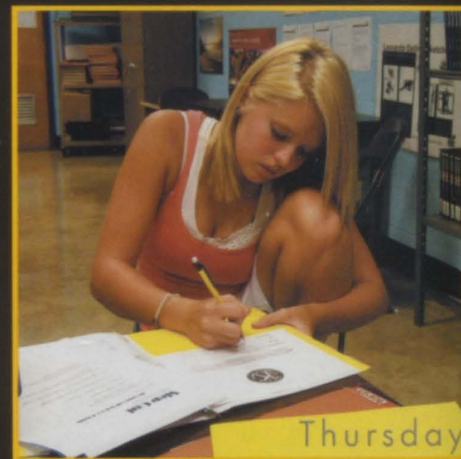

Only time will tell if Petty will pursue a career in the radio field or continue his radio show just for enjoyment. - JUSTIN KERSEY

Painted Blue and Gold

Friday, October 3, Mooresville was painted a shade of blue and gold from the stands, that were packed with students during the pep rally, to the cheerleaders pumping up the crowd on the track and the football team seated on the bench watching the festivities. Everyone seemed to be fired up to watch the, so far undefeated, Pioneers take on the Whiteland Warriors that night.

During the pep rally, many fun-filled activities took place. One of the crowd favorites was the car bash that National Honor Society sponsored.

"I had a ton of fun painting the car with some of the other NHS members, it was super hot though, but we had a blast. I think more paint ended up on our clothes than on the actual car. It was a blast," senior Ashley Wyatt said.

Right before the game, many clubs at MHS took part in the homecoming parade. The queen and princess candidates rode in convertibles and waved to the crowd. Queen candidates were Bailey Tri, Mackenzie Wiser and Michaela Medlen. At the half time of the game that night, the winners were announced. The queen winner was Mackenzie Wiser and the Princess was Kim Schneider.

At 7 p.m., the stands were full and everyone was cheering on the Pioneers. After a hard-fought battle, the Pioneers were defeated, 3-27, changing their season record to 6-1.

The three points came from junior Cale Larrison, when he kicked a 30 yard field goal. Senior Quarterback Tyler Bless led the Pioneers offensively with 132 passing yards and 37 rushing. Senior Shaefer Roloff had 53 yards receiving and Nick Westfall rushed for 44 yards.

Before the game started, Coach Mark Bless was recognized in the middle of the field and presented with a ball that represented his 100th career win at Mooresville; the Pioneers received this win when they defeated Martinsville 37-16.

"I was very happy to see the gentlemen from my first team come back to Mooresville for this," Bless said.

Overall, homecoming was a huge success. Most people had a great time and bonded together well.

let's GO Caving

"My favorite part was when they turned out all the lights in the cave, it was really creepy," sophomore Brittany Ross said.

Mr. Lindsey and the rest of the Trailblazers went to Blue Springs Cavern in Bedford, Indiana to go cave exploring.

"It took two to three hours to drive down there and then the exploring took another two to three hours," Ross said.

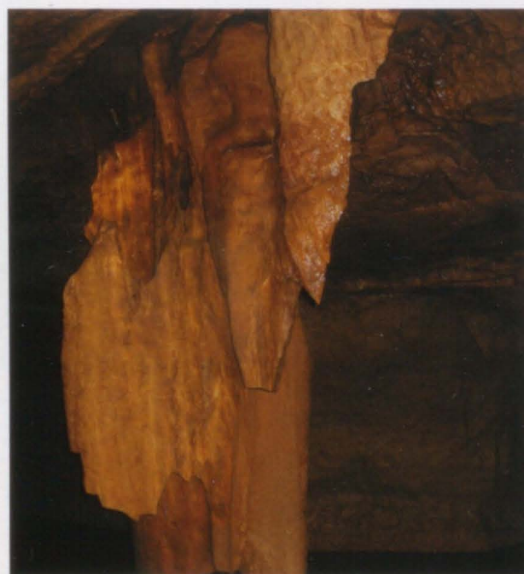

A lot of the students liked going because it was very informative. When they arrived at Blue Springs Cavern, they were split into groups and each group was assigned a boat. Each group traveled around the cave for more than a mile. While they were examining the beauty of the cave, the tour guide pointed out rare blind fish and crayfish in their natural setting.

"I learned that a lot of things can't live in caves. We learned most of the fish in the cave are blind, we also learned how the cave got there, why the water is there, and why it's so cold," Ross said.

Trailblazers also did other exciting things like bowling as a group and they hope to sometime go to Australia.

at a tennis court in Latvia.

Royce Redmond finished the 2008 season with a huge improvement from last season. He had been playing tennis since he was in second grade, and, now a senior, this was his last season playing for Mooresville High School.

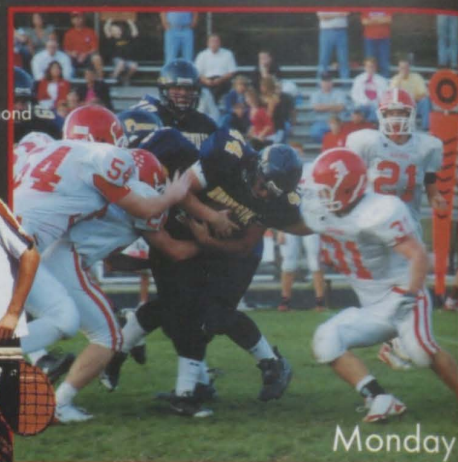

"I think we did a lot better than last year because we fought a lot harder than years before," Redmond said.

After finishing the season and school year of 2008, Redmond took a trip to Europe over the summer to visit his girlfriend in Latvia. He stayed in Europe for three weeks, and even managed to play more tennis.

"It was very different playing tennis there, I played on clay and carpet courts. It even helped me prepare for this seasons matches. It even helped me prepare more. My most memorable match I had this year was sectionals. Even though I lost, I still feel like I won because I played very well," Redmond said.

The Varsity Mens Tennis team finished their 2008 season with an overall record of 5-10. The team worked well together and made a lot of improvements from the year before.

While some students stayed home and hung out for Fall Break, others took a vacation.

Junior John Kang went to South Korea for nine days, visiting the cities of Seoul, Incheon and Kuan Yin.

"I went to visit my family because I haven't seen them in a really long time," Kang said.

There he watched his Aunt Jeanette, also known as The Black Widow, play pool. He also went shopping, site-seeing and spent time with his family and friends.

Biology II and Anatomy Teacher Mr. Joe Johnson also spent time with family and friends.

"I took a boat out on Lake Monroe and went over 100 miles an hour on it and next year I hope to go faster," he said.

Other students and staff went to different places like New York City. Junior Damon Martin went to Philadelphia with his family because his younger sister was an all-star at a cheer camp and she won the trip.

"When I first went to Philly, I thought it would be lame, but come to find out spending a week with 500 cheerleaders is fun," Martin said.

With Pride

With new drum majors and many young members, Marching Band excels in their competitions.

The words "With Pride" have been the foundation of the MHS Marching Band and Color Guard for many years. It was a reminder that every step they took and every note they played is "With Pride." The pride of showing all the hard work that had been done and that the long hours of practice finally paid off.

The season always started about a week after school lets out, with Freshmen Camp. It was a time to give potential new members a chance to learn the basics in marching. Proceeding were practices from 1 to 5 p.m. A few weeks off, then the real practice begins: Band Camp.

Band Camp is a week long rehearsal that focuses on learning most of the show, and also allows the band to become closer as a group.

"Band Camp was my favorite part of the season. Along with the hard work of learning drill, we had fun times, too. We played fun games and just got to hang out with friends," freshman Michelle Fears said.

In their 2008 Spectro Textures, the band didn't do all the work though. Color Guard was a very important part when it came to the final score.

"We catch the eye of the judges and help the band's visual score go up. We are a big part of the Marching Band, and it is NOT easy," junior Danielle Hall said.

Although this group of ladies made every movement look easy with their grace, it took many hours to perfect their moves.

"It is an unbelievable feeling to perform a show. The band is so focused and the fans are cheering."
- Senior Sarah Vaughn

"We always had to be at the school an hour or more earlier than the band. We had to practice way more than they did," Hall said.

That is to be expected, having to work around the drill that was set for the band. The drill was changed over and over to get the perfect visual effect to convey the message of the music. And when the band and guard combined, it was like magic.

There were two new ladies conducting for this last season, senior Sarah Vaughn and junior Heather Passey. With their leadership this young band was able to go to Regionals, which was quite an accomplishment.

As the season ran down to an end and the final performance came to a close, Vaughn chose to enjoy it.

"It is an unbelievable feeling to performing a show. I love the atmosphere. The band is so focused, and the fans are cheering. My last show was a bittersweet moment. I was pumped, because I enjoy it so much, yet it was hard to believe I was never going to march again. I would never hear 'Mooreville...under the direction of Sarah Vaughn and Heather Passey' again. I chose to just soak it all up," Vaughn said.

Although the band remained serious throughout the season some funny moments couldn't help happening. Such as, at Greenwood, senior Cory Shover started talking with an accent to the other bands, and they thought he was from Australia. Also, senior Joe Malm left his instrument at the school and he had to use another school's tuba.

No matter what happened throughout the season, every member always carried themselves keeping in mind "With Pride."

TSLA took a road trip to the leadership conference down to Bloomington, Indiana on Thursday and Friday the 30th-31st. MHS TSLA members took a over night trip on their yearly conference, they stayed at a Holiday Inn for only one night. Before their first night, the 30th, concluded the conference threw the schools that went a dance party.

"The party was very cool, they had disco balls, lights, lasers, good music, basically everything you could think of put into one party. They really went all out for the schools that went, it was pretty cool," sophomore Brenden Heidorn said.

After waking up at the Holiday Inn, the members went to two classes. The two classes were teaching them to be a all around better student, and about finical aid.

"The classes were a lot of fun and I learned a lot about saving money and finical aid," sophomore Taylor Fehrman said.

The classes were to teach students to be prepared and informed. After the two classes TSLA went to, they headed back to MHS to teach what they had learned from their classes to others here at MHS.

Voting History

The 2008 Election makes history.

The 2008 election was a huge event at MHS. National Honor Society Sponsor and Social Studies Department Chair Joyce Gilly held multiple senior class meetings in the auditorium encouraging first-time voters to get out and cast their ballots.

"I have found that statistics show that the more educated you are, the more you vote," Gilly said. "That's why I started before the primaries last year. I wanted to highlight that in an historic election, such as this one, where a lot of the voters are voting for the first time."

Little did students know that the 2008 election was about to cascade its way into history books around the world. On one end of the plane, students had the chance to elect the oldest president in history and a female vice president. On the other end of the spectrum, electors would have the choice of the first-ever African-American president.

When it was all said and done, Democrat Barack Obama defeated John McCain, his Republican opponent, by receiving nearly 70 million votes, the most popular votes ever received by a candidate. Obama became the first African-American president. A dream that Martin Luther King, Jr. had talked about nearly 50 years prior finally came into fruition, all under the watch of first-time voters' eyes. -TYLER BENNETT

Give to Wagon Trails

Celebrities grace MHS with their presence at Wagon Trails Revue.

MHS's annual variety show, Wagon Trails Revue, featured some amazing talent, not only in the acts, but in the presenters. Celebrities, such as the "American Idol" judges, Miley Cyrus, The Jonas Brothers, Spice Girls and Backstreet Boy and more graced the stage with their presence in "Give to Wagon Trails."

Like "American Idol's" annual "American Idol Gives Back," this year's Wagon Trails theme show was all about raising money for a great cause, this year book. Due to Wagon Trails Revue, the cost of a yearbook is able to be much lower than other schools.

What everyone remembers about Wagon Trails Revue is the performances. All the music groups perform, traditionally starting with Marching Band and ending with Spotlighters. And who could forget the slide show with the traditional song, "Yesterday Once More"?

Overall, Wagon Trails Revue is an enjoyable experience for everyone.

"[My first Wagon Trail experience] was exciting and a lot of fun. [My favorite part] was performing and watching the other choirs and acts," Millennium member, freshmen Victoria Wilson said.

Being the first performance of the year for many of the groups, there were some interesting backstage moments, from remembering dance moves right before the curtain rises to rushing to get on stage.

"With instruments clanking down the spiral stairway, and the rush to get dressed and redressed for each part that a Stage Crew member partakes, has to be most of the crazy backstage moments. But, every backstage moments is a crazy moment," junior Nelson Wood said.

Wood was involved in Marching Band, Symphonic Band and the Assistant Director of the Auditorium, aka President of Stage Crew. Many are unaware of how much Stage Crew is involved in the whole running of performances but they are a huge part of keeping the show running smoothly.

"If it hadn't been for stage crew I really don't think I would have known what to do or where to go," first-year yearbook sponsor Mrs. Heather Reynolds said.

Although there was a lot of fun throughout the three nights students put in to Wagon Trails, for the seniors it is always a bittersweet moment.

"My favorite part was performing. That is what I'll miss. [The last night] the thought that it was my last Wagon Trails performance was sad," Spotlighters member senior Bailey Tri said.

Wagon Trails was a success a huge hit for the audience. It will continue to be a huge success in the future while the underclassmen of MHS continue the beloved tradition.

Senior Devon Fisher is an Inspiration to Many

At the fall sports banquet, Senior Devon Fisher was honored with the Comeback Award.

"Devon was diagnosed with Colon Cancer two winters ago during our off-season weights and conditioning. He had to have some of his colon removed. Devon started his chemotherapy during the winter of 2007.

"Devon faced extensive chemotherapy treatments until the following spring, at that time Devon would go in for his treatment, and after his recovery from that treatment, he would return to continue his lifts," Head Football Coach Mark Bless said.

"My grandpa had cancer before I did and he was a huge inspiration to me," Fisher said.

While Devon was receiving his treatment, many of his friends came to the hospital to visit him.

"Devon is my cousin but also my best friend; he is one of the strongest people I have ever met. He never let the cancer get him down. He always had a positive outlook on the whole thing," senior Jacquie Bantley said.

Twilight Hysteria

November 21, 2008, one of the biggest best seller books hit the big screen taking a bite out of the box office. In its first weekend, "Twilight" made over 70.6 million dollars. It was also the number one movie in the box offices for four weeks. It seemed week 15 of the school year had everyone reading Twilight, talking about it, and even buying tickets before Friday, so they had a seat to see the movie before it was sold out.

"'Twilight' is amazing! It's not what I thought it would be. I couldn't put the books down until it was over. The movie was really good too! And of course Edward Cullen... Wow! That's all I can say. I can't wait for the next movie to come out," said senior Megan White. The movie and book was such a success that they are planing to continue the saga, written by Stephanie Meyer. The second Twilight movie, has been rumored to come out in November of 2009.

For many students at MHS, Thanksgiving is a day for getting together and eating turkey. Junior Michelle Rainbolt had a whole new experience this year.

"Cooking the turkey has always been something my grandma has done," Rainbolt said.

For the first time, Rainbolt was left with the duty of preparing the turkey. She was more than happy to take on this challenge even though she said she was by no means the greatest cook.

"I was really nervous to make it because I had previously caught the stove on fire four times," Rainbolt said. "I was wondering why they would leave me with such a big job."

"I must say that was the most burned turkey I've seen in my life."

- Junior Michelle Rainbolt

While her mom went to sleep, Rainbolt went into the kitchen to get a head start without anyone knowing. She put the turkey in the oven for nine hours to cook. There was only one minor problem: the turkey was only supposed to be in for six.

"I smelled smoke, then came the fire alarms," Rainbolt said.

As the oven was opened, flames shot out to the ceiling.

"I took control and put the fire out," Rainbolt said. "I must say that was the most burned turkey I've seen in my life."

It turns out Rainbolt's grandma had made a backup turkey, so her Thanksgiving was saved. There is now a new rule in the Rainbolt home.

"I'm no longer allowed to use the stove when no one's home or when they're asleep."

Take a look BEHIND the scenes

"Lights! Camera! Action!" You heard these words and before you knew it, you were standing at the edge of the stage taking your final bow. While most performances were extremely stressful to all involved, the MHS theatre arts classes enjoyed a fun-filled doubleheader of stage antics.

Read all about Mooresville history - the first year that ever offered audiences two Christmas plays in just one night - and see just what went into making this historical event a complete crowd favorite and local media success.

Each year, the MHS drama department hosts its own student-written Christmas play. This year, however, was unique.

"Every year is different," drama and theatre arts teacher Mrs. Melanie Kassen said, "but this is the first year we've ever hosted two Christmas plays. Each one has a different theme and plot."

The first play, "One Elf's Dream," was a play that featured a character named Lilly the Elf's journey to becoming a soccer player at the North Pole. This play was written by junior Jordin Chope.

"'One Elf's Dream' is a great, heartwarming tale of perseverance," freshman Amanda Wenz, the actor who portrayed Lilly, said.

"This play is great because it appeals to young and old minds [alike]," sophomore Dominick Moline said.

The other play, "Rock 'n Roll Christmas," was written by sophomore Jacob Perdue.

"This play ['Rock 'n Roll Christmas'] is definitely interesting," Kassen said. "We've got Jack Frost and Jack Skeleton here! It's also the first time we've had these types of characters."

"'One Elf's Dream' is a great heartwarming tale of perseverance," freshman Amanda Wenz said.

After the performances were over, both plays were well-received by both the audiences in attendance and the local media. Each student was ready to put pen to paper and write again, but with the play coming to a close, students were met with the thought that the Christmas play only comes around once every year - much like the jolly characters of which each play told stories.

Did you give?!

Being poked by needles doesn't seem that appealing to most people, right? Well for more than 50 students and staff at MHS, it seems to be rewarding to give blood for a good cause. The blood they gave will be used for people who are in need of it.

"I give blood regularly. I give blood because it's going to help someone. If I needed it, I would hope someone would like to help me out, too. I also give because I have the rarest blood, type B negative," Miss Sharon Eickhoff said.

Student Council sponsored the blood drive held in the library on December 2, their first out of two they have each year. Student Council has had a blood drive for many years, and it doesn't seem like it will stop having one for years to come.

"I gave blood because I feel that it is the right thing to do," senior Kaliegh Murrell said.

Stage

Santa Claus got stolen by the legendary Jack Frost? This was the idea created by sophomore Jacob Perdue. Perdue was the director of the theater arts christmas play this year.

"Jacob Perdue is the best director ever. Without him, our play would have been really bad, but with him directing, it was fabulous," sophomore Max Goodin said.

The play was a good experience for most of those who participated. Students from Mrs. Melanie Kassen's theater arts classes all had the opportunity to be a part of the play. Some acted, while others worked backstage with lights and curtains.

For most high school students, acting in front of a live crowd would be very nerve racking, but not for junior Brittany Coburn.

"I have always loved the stage, so it was very fun for me. My peers were very excited about it which made me excited about it," Coburn said.

Overall, the play was a good way to start the Christmas season. It got people into a fun and happy spirit.

Lady Pioneers Defeat Decatur

12/15-20

The Lady Pioneers challenged the Decatur Hawks in a Mid State showdown. The entire game was fast paced and hard fought from both teams.

The Lady Pioneers had a slow start to the game. The game was close the entire first half, with the Pioneers heading into the locker room.

"Coming into the third and fourth quarters, everyone stepped up and played their game the way we wanted," sophomore Jama Sharp said.

The third quarter grew intensity as the rival teams challenged for the win. The opponent was ahead the entire game until the end of the third quarter, which was a sure nail biter.

"We just realized we had to step it up if we wanted to win; we weren't playing with enough intensity," junior Maegan Callaway said.

Sierra Chabra made a three-point basket, giving the Pioneers the first lead of the night. The last few minutes of the game were a battle between both teams. The Lady Pioneers came away victoriously, winning 53 to 48.

Khoury

Moving to a new school your senior year is really hard. Especially when you are moving from half way across the world.

I move around so often that it's second nature. So, there aren't many new feelings or expectations. I had no idea that I would end up here. I just got on a plane after visiting my Baba (father) in Palestine and met up with my mum and step dad (Tony), who is from South Africa, in Indianapolis.

Tony was über excited to be here, in America. His first present was a cowboy hat. He still wears it on occasion, along with his plaid shirt.

As family goes, Baba spends most of his time traveling. He is currently based in Ramallah, Palestine, though he spends at least half the year in Kuala Lumpur (KL), Malaysia, because he works for both governments. My dad's brother (Amo Fadi, aka Uncle Fadi) lives in United Arab Emirates (UAE) and my Taita and Cedo (grandmum and granddad) split their time between there and Amman, Jordan. My Oma (grandmum on my step dad's side) lives in Joburg (Johannesburg) with my step dad's siblings. All my mum's family lives in Illinois and Kentucky, since she is from the U.S.

As culture goes, my favorites are probably a tie between Jordan and Saudi. They're very similar, warm and caring. People there are very open and light-hearted, they love partying (especially if there's food, lol) and getting together. They refer to everyone as "my brother," stranger or not. They're one big family. My favorite country I guess is Dubai (UAE), because it's a mixture of Middle East and Western traditions.

America differs how? America is not as friendly as Jordan was, but it is definitely better and safer than South Africa, where there you need a 10-foot wall with barbed wire around your house to feel even minutely safe. America is sort of set on this pedestal by other countries, so people look at it like that. But really, it's not that much different than other places. Mooresville is similar to other small towns in different countries, probably surprising to many of you.

It's great to live and travel to so many places. I have friends in so many countries that I never have to use a hotel, I just stay with them, so, I have a place to stay from Spain to Denmark and Kuwait to Australia. Staying in touch would be hard but yay for Facebook!

I love my life. It's filled with many cultures and good times. It has made me the occasionally open minded, lazy person I am today. Ha...ha.

Mid State Finals

Swimming their way to victory.

On January eighth and tenth the Mooresville High School swim team had a Mid State meet.

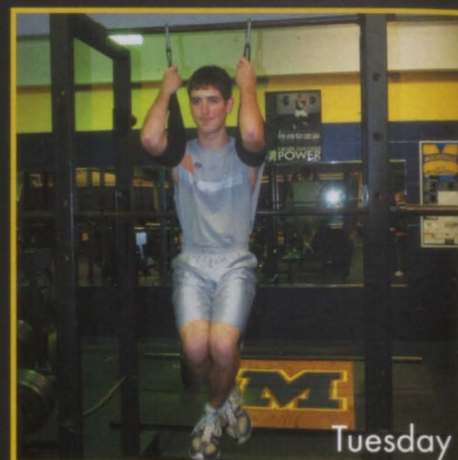

"I was not as pleased with my swims at Mid State. I expected a lot better out of me, but I tried my best. Although, I did place the highest for Mooresville High School in all the years," senior Lori Nichols said.

Nichols won third place in the butterfly and came in second in the 100 backstroke. She wasn't as scared on Thursday, but on Saturday, that's when the nerves kicked in. To calm herself, she usually listens to her iPod, jumps up and down before she gets on the block. The team did an outstanding job and everyone were very pleased with them.

Losing so many outstanding athletes this year, the best advice Nichols could give to her team was to stick together and work really hard.

"I am going to miss Coach Davis and the girls," Nichols said. But this isn't the end for her. Lori is planning to swim at Ball State, hopefully.

In 2009, Mooresville High School's current facilities celebrated its 50th anniversary - the same age the previous had been when the board elected to build a new.

Read all about the dedication, the features and the election that took place on May 19, 2009, that would have allowed for renovation of the building. Did it pass? What was the community's opinion? Find out here!

Take a look BEHIND the scenes

The 50th Anniversary of the Facilities at 550 N. Indiana Street

Cracking walls, broken or missing ceiling tiles, inoperational exit signs and faulty electrical wiring. When a 50-year-old facility that was built before the dawn of the earliest personal computers was used for educational purposes, including curriculum-involving computers, many problems occurred.

Problems like these, along with the Mooresville's expanse of growth at the time - prompted the school board to build the current facilities. On November 29, 1959, the current facility opened its doors. It promised features such as fluorescent lighting, tile ceilings, and green chalkboards - all relatively new and unheard of in 1959. The total cost of the facility: $703,119.20.

"Let us remember that good schools are not cheap, and it may be well that education is not cheap either," then-Principal William R. Curry said. "In supplying better educational facilities for our people, we are supplying a better chance of better living."

In the past few years, students have made some observations about the building's state.

"The roof was leaking in our yearbook room," senior Jacob Light said. "A lot of the rain that came through the roof got into some computers. Mrs. [Ada] Clark barely had enough time to stop class, run to the other side of the room and move them before they were permanently damaged."

"I went to my locker one day, and it was flooded because it had rained in my locker," senior Anastasia Bovee said. "I still don't understand how rain got into my locker - on the first floor, no less."

The current facilities lived up to expectations until the school reached 110 percent of its functional capacity. During the 2008-2009 school year, the school board decided it would be reasonable to put forth a community vote for a building project.

The project, slated to cost $96 million, would include renovations to the current facilities and a new middle school. Upon the completion of the middle school's construction, the middle school building would become a part of the high school.

A plan didn't come without opposition before the vote, however. Several community members argued that a new building project would raise property taxes and cause local businesses to permanently close their doors.

On May 19, 2009, the final vote was tallied. As a result of the vote, the motion for renovations and construction was not passed. -TYLER BENNETT

we're making Jewelry

Jewelry is an art elective that you may choose to take either because you are interested in making jewelry or because you need the credit. In jewelry, you are mostly working with metals. You start the semester using thin sheet metal, and as you progress, you get to use heavier metals.

"Some kids find it tough at first to work with metals, but as they use it more, it becomes easier for them," Mr. Amrhein said.

Some of the first projects for the class include shaping names from a piece of wire and making basic chains. As the year progressed, such chains become more extravagant.

"What I like about jewelry class is being able to work with my friends," sophomore Shelby Michael said.

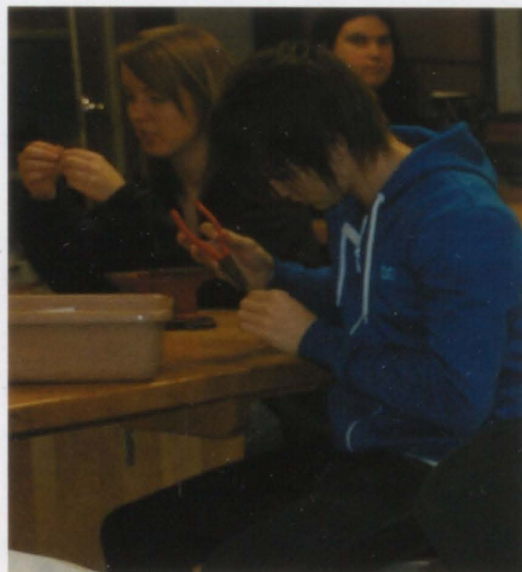

One thing about jewelry is that you either like it or you don't. It also seems that there aren't really a lot of projects, and there is enough time to work on them.

"I wish we did more crafts, and did more hands on work," senior Caitlyn Tinsley said.

-CAROLYN FERRILL

"One of the good things about jewelry class is that we always get plenty of time to work on our projects."

"It was heartbreaking; we didn't play our best and they wanted it more," sophomore Jama Sharp said.

Carrie Fisher, breast cancer survivor and mother of JV Basketball Player junior Ashtyn Fisher, cheers on the Womens Varsity Basketball team in their game against the Quakers.

"The game was for a really good cause. A lot of people are affected by this disease, and hopefully, one day, there will be a cure," Coach Hurt said.

PLAYING for the CURE

When junior Ashtyn Fisher found out that there would be a Breast Cancer Awareness Basketball Game, she was very excited.

"Slam Dunk for the Cure" was held at Plainfield High School. Pink t-shirts were made by the parents of the Lady Pioneers for the fans. The team wore pink camo t-shirts throughout the day and wore pink socks and headbands during the game. The cheerleaders wore pink bows in their hair. Coach Mark Hurt even wore a pink tie.

Although the Pioneers were defeated, it was an exciting game.

"We didn't play our best until the second half, but we had gotten ourselves in too big of a hole the first half. [Plainfield is] a good team so to get down by as much as we did was difficult and in the end we were disappointed," senior Cora Sharp said.

Unfortunately, the Lady Pioneers lost the game 53-57, their first loss of the season.

"We felt we had some opportunities, but we missed a couple of open shots and a couple of turnovers late in the game," Coach Mark Hurt said.

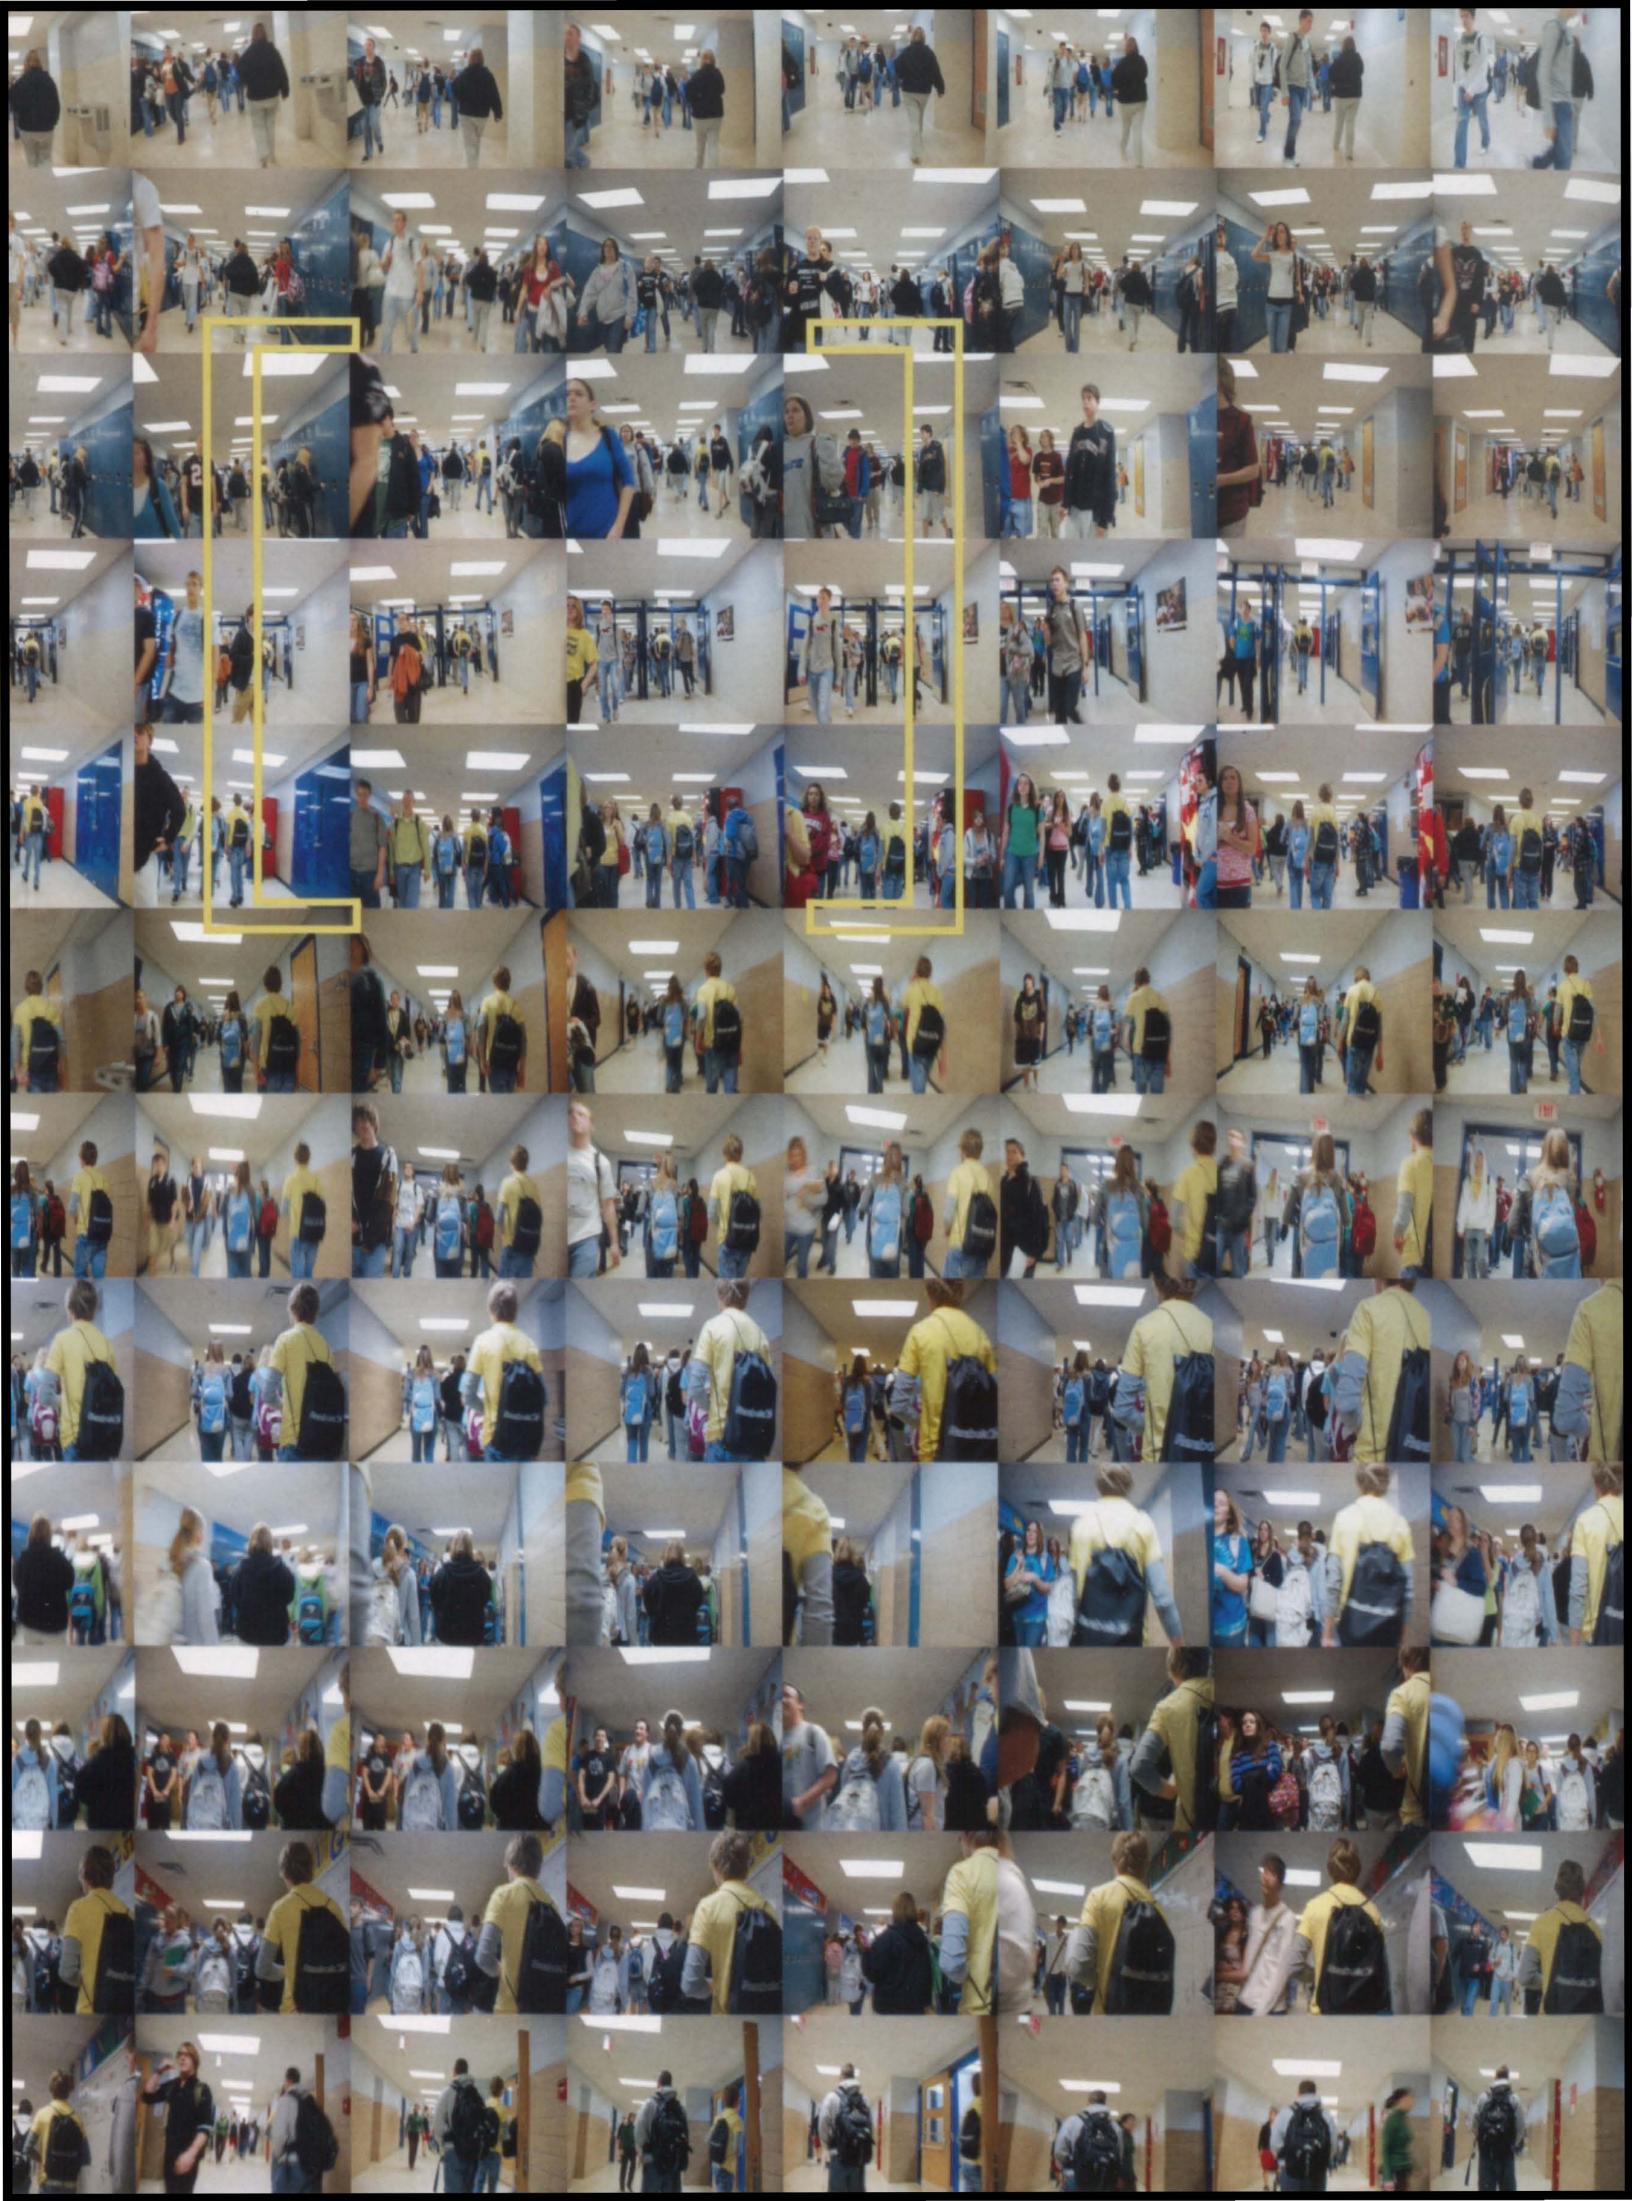

"This game meant a lot to me. It really hit home because my mom had breast cancer," Fisher said.

Carrie Fisher was equally excited about the game.

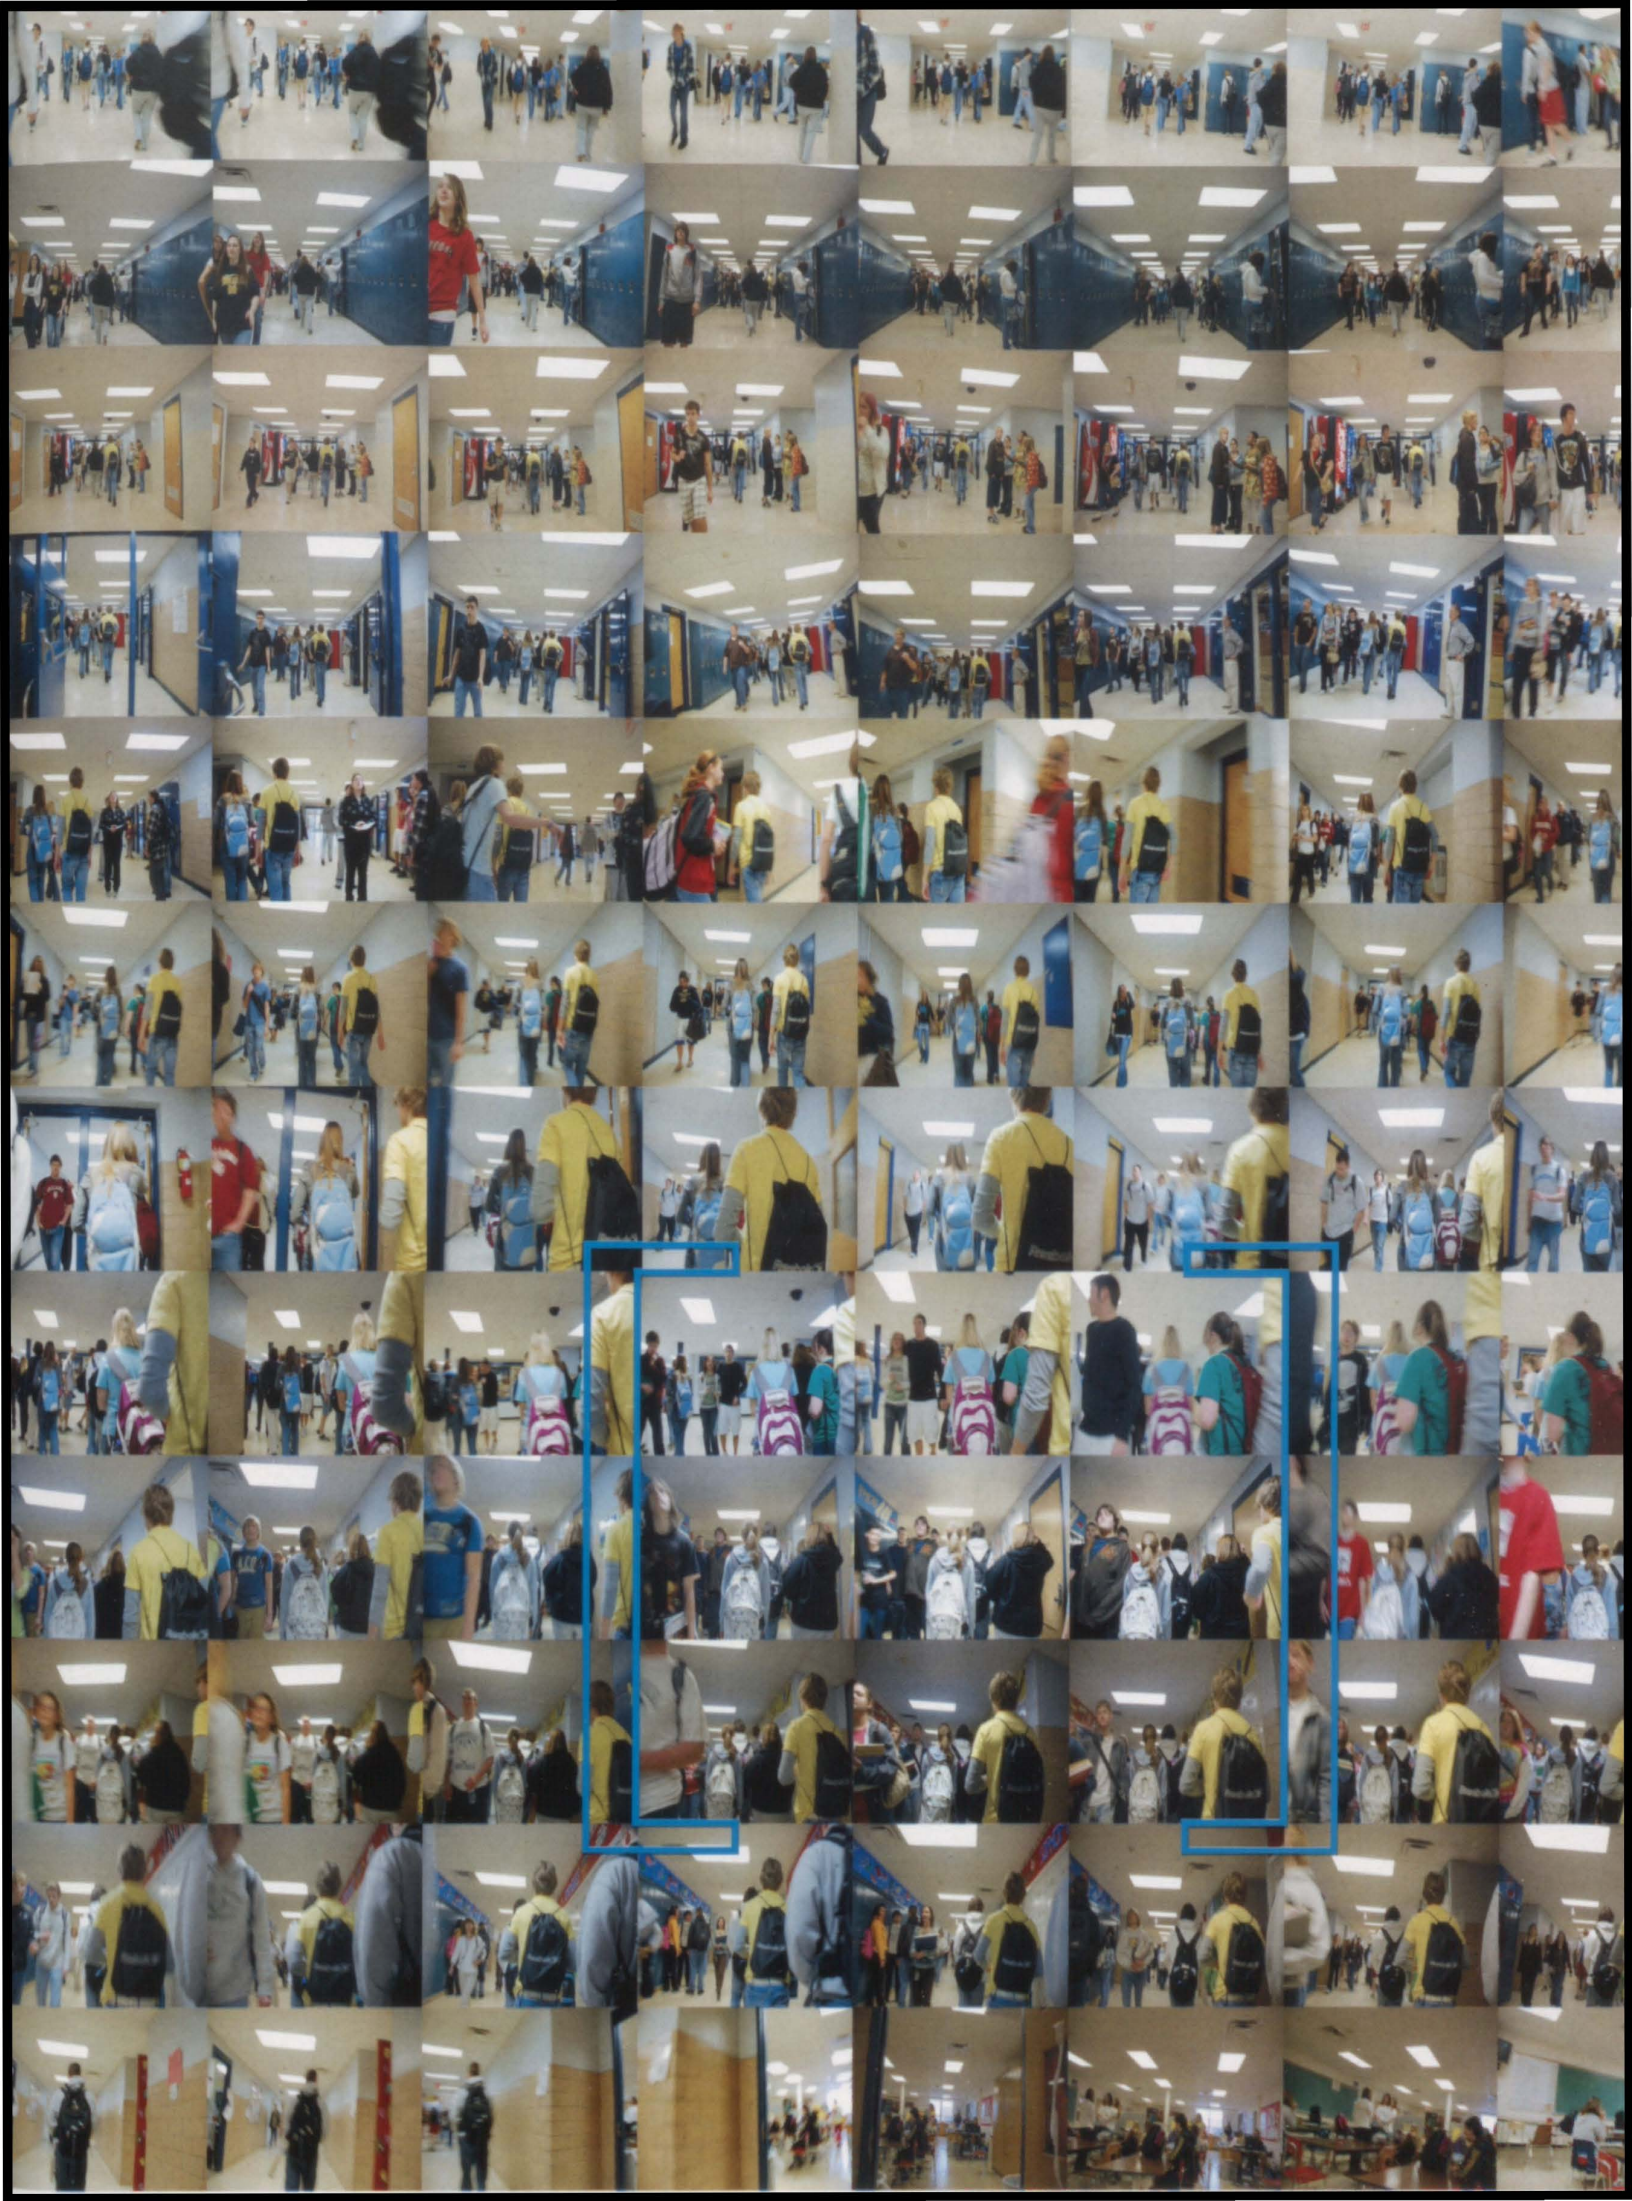

"When I got to the game and saw all the girls in their pink t-shirts and pink socks, I was really excited. I was also very impressed and touched with the back of their shirts that were honoring the mother's who have had cancer...it was great to see everyone come together to support breast cancer," Carrie Fisher said.

let's MAKE a change

Many students from our school got to enjoy a day off while at the 2009 Youth 4 Youth conference. They enjoyed music from the Isaac and Joseph band and got to choose from various break-out sessions; with discussion topics ranging from learning about college to how to deal with 'mean girls' at school.

"Youth 4 Youth was a very fun experience," senior Beth Breimeir said.

After the break-out sessions and lunch, students met back in the auditorium for a skit by Susie Vanderlip. She acted out a number of characters (which are pictured on the right) who were people with real life problems such as being in a gang or being a teenage mother at age sixteen.

Some people she acted out were people she had actually known who had come to talk to her about their problems at one of her conferences. The first picture, Julio, was a boy she met who had been faced with the problem of being in a gang. He eventually overcame that and got out.

The second picture was actually her when she was seventeen. She talked about how she had a boyfriend for a long time and they later got married. Unfortunately, he stopped loving her, and he later died of alcohol and drug abuse.

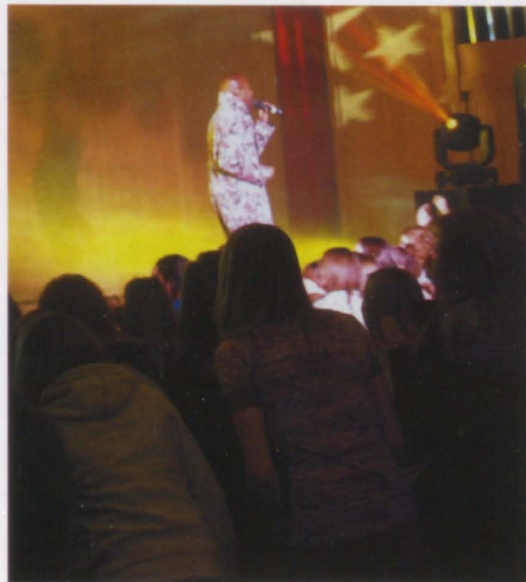

"I liked it, I really enjoyed the guest speaker at the end, she told a great story with her outfits and props," senior Brandon Ridner said.

Many of the students really enjoyed the skit and felt really touched by her stories.

But where would those boys have been without the chants and cheers of their cheerleaders?

"We appreciate the cheerleaders a lot because they Really get the crowd involved in the game. We couldn't do what we do without them," junior Kellen Mowery said.

Corey Wells

It is good to get involved while you're in school. Playing sports is a big thing among high school students, but have you ever thought about playing HOCKEY?

*M*id-Winter Break, for many students, is a time to wind down. Many of the school's sports teams have had their last games for the season, but some people, like senior Corey Wells, participate in sports outside of school. During the break, Wells was at the peak of his season.

Wells is a member of Perry Park Skating Rink's ice hockey team. Most schools do not have a hockey team, so teens who enjoy playing usually join this team.

Wells has played hockey for nearly nine years and loves it. The only other person he knows from MHS who plays is his younger brother, Josh.

Wells began by playing roller hockey for fun when he lived in California; he moved there in the second grade and moved back to Indiana in the fourth grade, about eight years ago. From that experience grew an interest in ice hockey.

Wells has been on the team for two years.

"I got cut my sophomore year and made the 'B' team junior year and then the 'A' team as a senior," Wells said.

He plays anywhere from one to four games in a weekend and usually none during the week. Perry Park is the team's home rink, but they sometimes play away. When the team does travel, some main rinks they play at are in Fishers, Indiana, at Fishers Forum and in Carmel, Indiana, at Carmel Ice Stadium. However, the team has traveled as far south as Columbus, Indiana.

Wells says that the team's record is not the greatest, but he still enjoys playing.

"The best part is having fun with my teammates," Wells said.

Losing is the worst part, he said.

Lady Pioneers had a great victory, beating Jeffersonville, 56-50, on Saturday at the Regional Championship game. Working together as a team, they were able to win Regionals, which was located at Bedford.

"It is really unexplainable [winning Regionals]. The feeling is not quite real yet. I am really glad that I could be a part of this success, especially it being my senior year. But now, I have to focus on the next game. We can't be satisfied. We have to want to keep going," senior Cora Sharp said.

What also helped the Lady Pioneers on their way to victory was the crowd that drove all the way to Bedford just to cheer them on. The fans stayed for both games that day. The semifinal game was played against Evansville Harrison and was a great victory for the ladies, 92-59. The regional championship game was a little closer, however.

"The girls have really believed in themselves and their teammates this year. The enthusiasm from the student body and the community has helped us a lot."
- Coach Mark Hurt

The following Saturday, the Lady Pioneers were back in action, going against the number one team in the nation, the Ben Davis Lady Giants at Southport High School for the Semi-State title.

"Ben Davis is a really good team. They are very quick and very athletic. If we want to win we will have to play our hearts out and want it more than them," senior Cora Sharp said.

It was that time of year again, the 15th annual Spotligther Invitational weekend. The choirs started off the action-packed weekend with a little twist. They performed in front of the whole school, to showcase their talents.

After they performed in front of the school, they made it an even better experience by having a room decorating contest. The winners of the best room got dinner paid for at whatever restaurant they wanted.

"Our theme for our room was our choirs theme for their show, Love in Paris. It took us about 6 hours to complete our room," junior Chloe Brizendine, one of the winners of the contest, said.

Friday night, the community, family and friends were welcomed to watch all showchoirs at MHS, as well as a Paul Hadley Middle School choir.

"Community night went really well. We successfully made over two thousand dollars," Choir Director Mr. Jason Damron said.

Even though all Mooresville choirs are unable to compete in the actual competition that took place on Saturday, they performed in front of all the choirs that were competing in the competition. Overall, the Spotligther Invitational was another success. - BRITTANY JOHNSON

"Performing in front of the school was fun and exciting. Most my friends couldn't come [to the show] so it was cool they saw it then." -Sophomore Nick Hunter-Shields

Lady Pioneers Quest for the Title Ends

On Saturday, February 28, the Lady Pioneers basketball team played its last game. The Lady Pioneers saw their shot to beat the number one team in the nation, the Ben Davis Lady Giants, slip away from them from the beginning of the game. The final score was 27-59. The girls reflected on their season and post season, how they fought hard and played well, only suffering two loses-one from Plainfield and the other from Ben Davis.

"I felt we got beat by a way better team, they were in a whole different league as us. But I'm glad we were there getting beat badly rather than not there at all. I hope next year's team will have the same goals as this years," said Coach Mark Hurt. -BRITTANY JOHNSON

Business in Chicago

Students in MHS business classes took a full day to visit Chicago. While there, they were able to observe many different businesses.

"We went to the Chicago Board of Trade and the Federal Reserves," junior Zac Childers said.

The students also got to eat at a place called Food Life. After eating, they were released to the Magnificent Mile on Michigan Avenue.

The bus for the trip left early Friday morning and returned late that night. Most of the students had a great time and enjoyed the experience.

"It was a nice experience and a good relief from school," Childers said.

For some of the students, it was their second time to go on the annual Chicago trip.

"I had fun, but it was my second time going so it was the same as the previous year. For the people who had not been on the trip before, it was a very good experience," junior Derek McWilliams said.

The trip was a way to get the students out to see Chicago from a business point of view.

Cheaper by the Dozen

MHS's annual spring play is a hit with the audience.

No, not "Cheaper by the Dozen" the movie, but the play. The 1920s ambience of a classic favorite brought the stage to life. Filled with witty banter and dilemmas, common even today, the whole production won the hearts of the audience.

"The theater has something to offer for everyone," senior Cayce Cunningham said.

The students worked many hours of rehearsal in order to be fully prepared for the play. Most of the participants enjoyed the long weeks of practice and were happy with the outcome.

"It was a great experience. I made new friends, and I became more comfortable in front of crowds," junior Dustin Zimmerman said. "(My favorite part was) hanging out with the cast everyday after school."

"The theater has something to offer for everyone."

-Senior Cayce Cunningham

For two nights, the play was open for viewing by the public. The spectators enjoyed watching the comedy just as much as the cast enjoyed performing it.

Being set in the early twentieth century, the actors and actresses portrayed their roles in both positive and funny ways.

"I've been to every spring play [with Stephanie Langenderfer], and they are always good. This one was very funny and entertaining," senior Shelby Auler said.

"Cheaper by the Dozen" was a charming, hilarious comedy with some poignant moments we could all relate to, even in this modern age. It was well received by the audience and cast alike.

Boston Trip

MHS choirs take a trip of a lifetime.

For some students, getting to miss school to take a bus from Mooresville to Boston, Mass. became a reality. Spotlighter, Finesse and Madrigal students were the lucky ones to travel to this historic place. Many of the students' favorite part was the bus ride. But for sophomores Carley Mitchell and Jack Waters, this was not the case.

"Our favorite part was when we went to the blue man group. It was a lot of fun," Mitchell said.

The overall performances by the three choirs were approved by many people.

"I thought we did okay, but it wasn't our best," sophomore Kahlie Cannon said.

"Spots did really well, I think we gave it 100 percent all the way," sophomore Christa Whitehurst said.

Ready, Set, TEST!

MHS Auto students receive top honors at State Competition.

The auto department prepared throughout the year for the 2009 Ford/AAA Student Auto Skills Competition. The competition took place on February 25 and only accepted the top automotive schools as competitors. In the second semester of auto, the class took a written test and the top two scores were added together to qualify for the competition. Each test consisted of 50 questions in all areas of automotive.

"The written test is like our Regionals," Mr. Rich Kelley said.

Their combined score was high enough to place in the top 10 of all high schools in Indiana. This is the sixth time Mooresville has competed in the competition. The two students, Mooresville Graduate Rusty Graham and senior Dennis Nelson, advanced to the hands-on competition for State. In the hands-on competition, each of the 10 teams received a car that had a different problem, and it was up to the team to figure it out. Whichever team fixed the car first won the overall state competition. The prize included a $1000 scholarship.

Although Pike Central came out on top, Mooresville's very own took third place.

In the auto industry, each aspiring mechanic had to pass eight automotive tests. These tests, however, were not easy and two Mooresville High School students passed one test each. Graham passed the test specializing in brakes, and Nelson became certified in basic engine.

"It's a big deal to pass an automotive test," Kelley said.

Passing a national automotive test means that a person would be able to go anywhere in the country to be a certified mechanic in the area that they passed. -CHELSEA MILLER & MICHELLE RAINBOLT (Pulse: Volume 46, Issue 6) & RACHEL MARTINELLI

Experiment with ICP

Mr. Zach Errett's Integrated Chemistry and Physics (ICP) classes learned about the specific heat of metals by conducting a lab.

The lab taught the students how to determine the specific heat of metals by dropping them into hot and cold water. Then, they compared the specific heat to others to find out the name of the metal.

"You can find the specific heat of a metal by putting it into water and then calculating the changes," sophomore Cordon Gregory said.

The lab went extremely well and all the students did their part. They found out the specific heat of a fishing sinker.

"For the most part, I believe that I got the message across to all the students, and they know how to determine specific heat now," Mr. Errett said.

ICP conducted many labs throughout the year, the specific heat lab was just one of them. Labs help you learn about things that might not have been learned before. After most labs, you might have to do a lab report which helps you understand the lab. -CAROLYN FERRILL,

The best part of the cruise for many was just being able to hang out with friends the entire week.

"My favorite part of spring break was laying out with my friends," sophomore Abby Howden said.

"The best part of spring break for me was hanging out with my

Lilly scholarship winner

Stephen Outcalt

2009 Lilly Endowment Scholarship receiver

MHS senior Stephen Outcalt, was asked, if he could describe himself in one word, what would it be. He simply stated the word lucky. Lucky my friend, is an understatement. To win the Lilly Endowment Scholarship takes a lot of effort and hard work.

"[When I received the scholarship] I couldn't believe it. When it finally settled in, all I could think was 'Holy crap, that's a lot of money,'" Outcalt said.

Each year several thousands of students just like Stephen apply for the scholarship in hopes of obtaining the four year grant to go away to the college of their desire. But only a select few are rewarded.

"Receiving this scholarship will allow me to pursue my college education without having to worry about working a lot or paying off a bunch of loans in the future," Outcalt said.

Criteria for the scholarship is weighted and based on academic performance, financial need, school and community activities, essay questions, a personal interview, personal characteristics and work experience.

"I am very proud and honored that one of our students is a Lilly Scholar," Principal Mr. Chuck Muston said. "I would like to congratulate Stephen for his academics and life achievements."

Stephen will be attending Purdue University in the fall and plans to study either Biomedical or Aeronautical Engineering. He gives credit to Marti Lambert and Chris Schilling for helping him become what he is today.

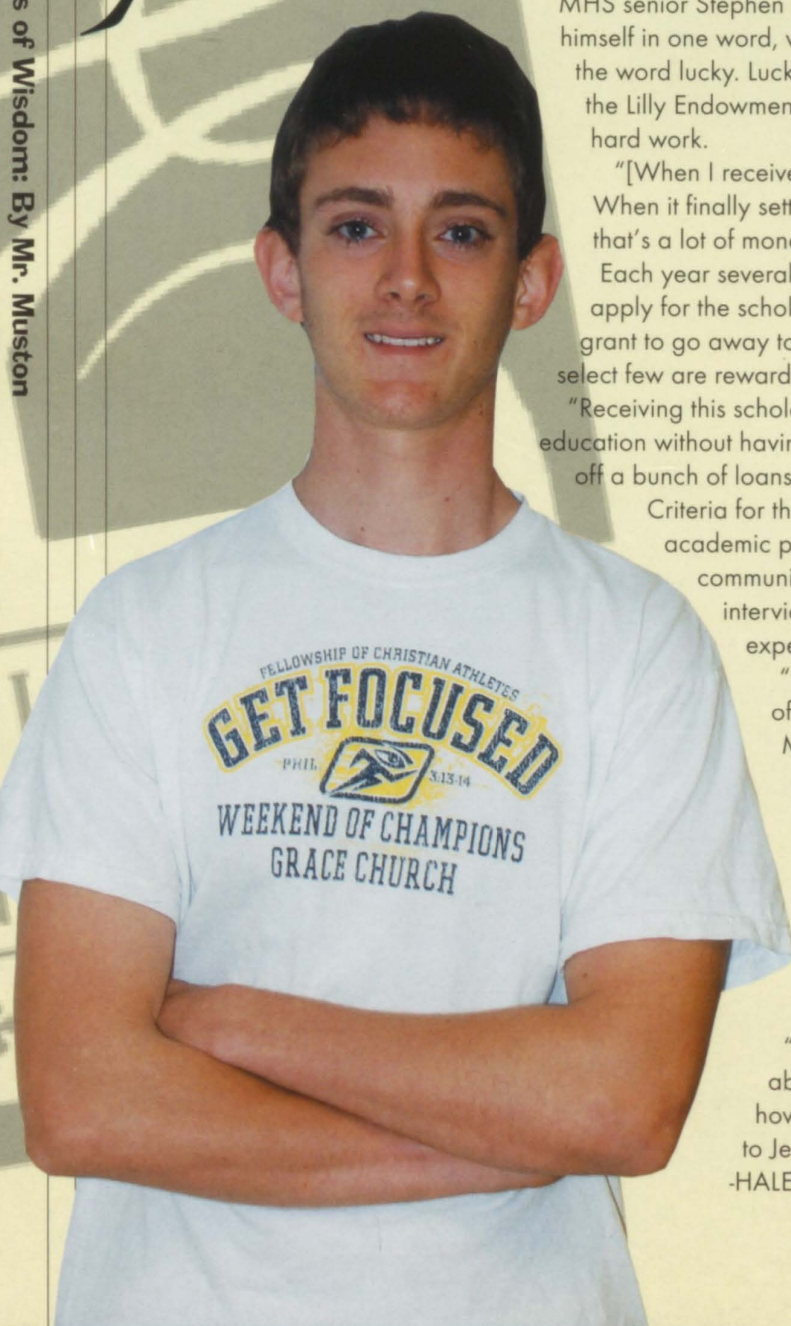

"They have taught me so much. Mostly about what I should do with my life and how to treat others, but ultimately, I look up to Jesus," Outcalt said.

4/6/11

The Mooresville Women's Tennis team has been dedicated in preparing for its 2009 season. This year, the team had over 40 girls try out, which caused the coach to make cuts for the first time. The girls who made it through had been practicing since early February and were ready to get the season off to a good start. "We have a great group of girls this year," junior Raechel Owens said.

This was a rebuilding year for the team, having lost some of its seniors last year. Losing them has allowed many of last year's JV players to move up to playing varsity. One of the girls' main goals was to win at least half of their matches this season.

In the economy slump in the year 2009, it's hard to believe that anyone would do anything for anyone for free at this time.

Well that is what MHS very own Key Club did. Members of Key Club went down to Riley Hospital to the Ronald McDonald house, to help out the families who are dealing with their child's life threatening diseases. The club made a feast of salad, pasta, cookies, bread and many more dishes, from 4-8.

"My son and I went it was a great experience. It is important to understand that there are less fortunate people out there and you need to give back to others," Mrs. Jennifer Perkins said.

Art. Whether its painting, drawing, sculpting or even jewelry making, MHS students use the language of art to create something new every day.

“Art means that I can express myself in any way that I want,” junior Alyson Backus said.

“The true work of art is but a shadow of the divine perfection.”

Cutting Loose on The Dance Floor

May 1 was a night to remember for MHS students. As they filled the Convention Center, downtown Indianapolis, the music was blaring and the party had just begun.

Five-hundred, thirty people attended prom, and, when added up, prom was pretty pricey: the DJ cost $1800, the room was $2800, food $5000, decorations $6000, and there were miscellaneous charges that amounted to $1000. The junior class raised $6,600 to go towards the costs.

"Overall it was the smoothest prom in my three years of being in charge," prom coordinator Mrs. Jennifer Perkins said.

Junior Bill Andrews and Lydia Wathen were named Prom Prince and Princess.

"While at prom, I saw some of my friends holding back or acting differently. When I asked them later why they did this, they usually replied, 'I didn't want to embarrass myself,'" Andrews said.

"Prom is about having fun, not being 'cool.' I just want to say that if you are yourself and you don't care what others think of you, can obtain a 'free spirit' and have even more fun."

Seniors Chris Parsons and Bailey Tri were named Prom King and Queen.

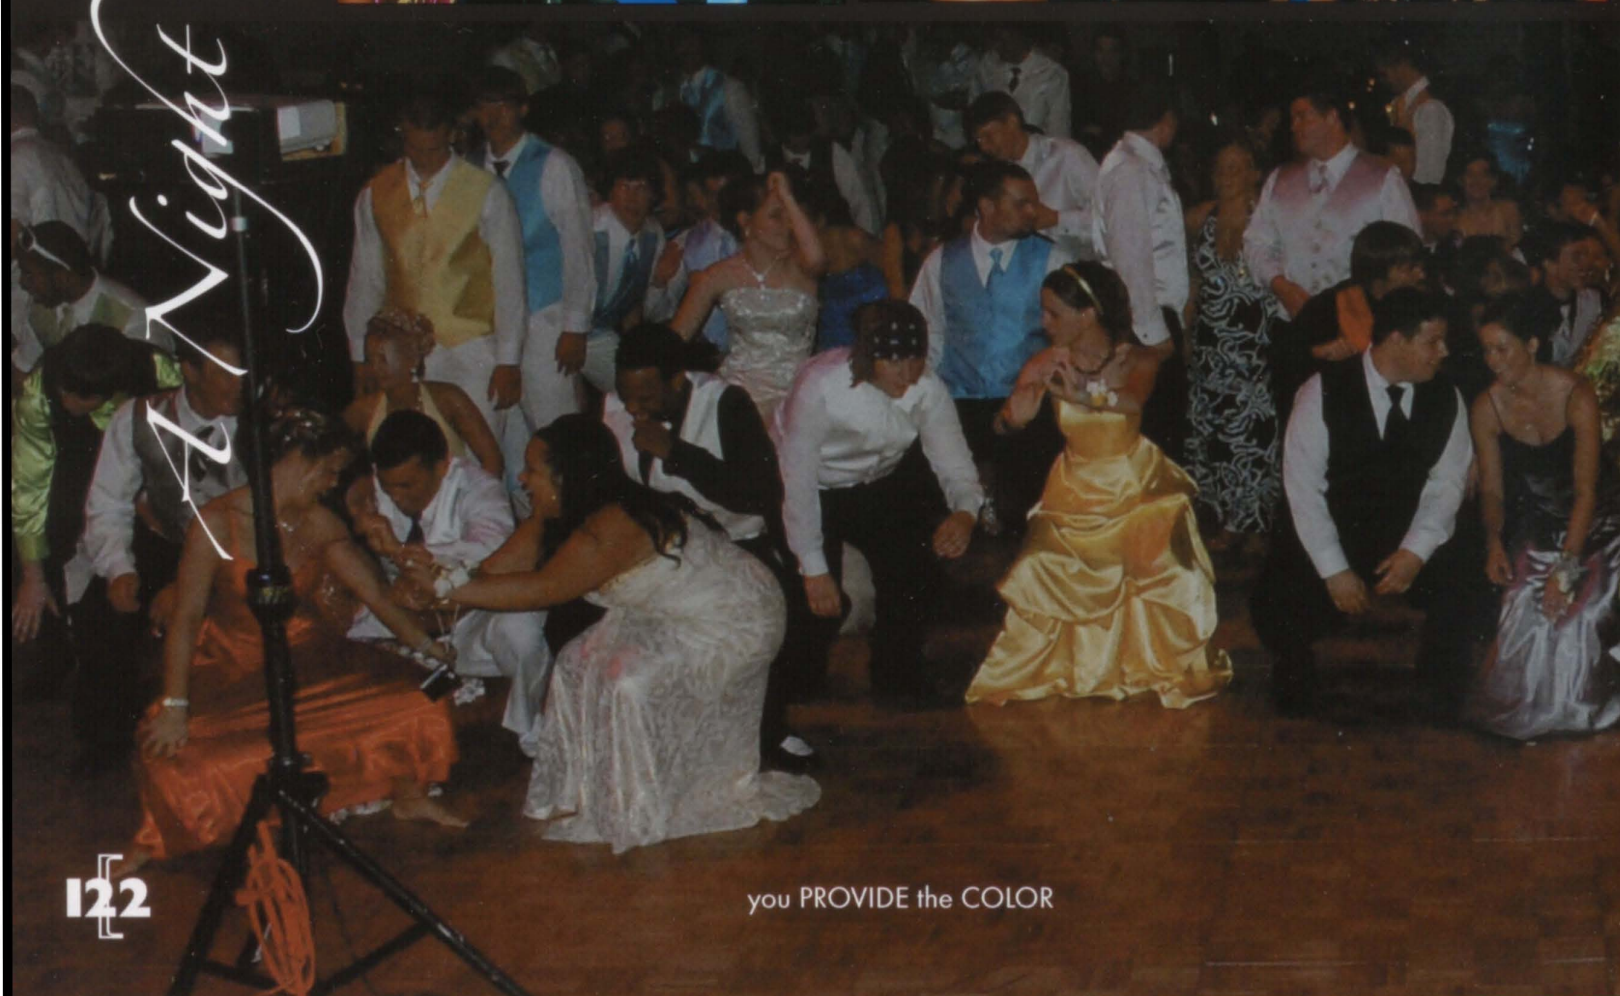

"It was cool to know all your friends voted for you. The best thing about winning prom king was when I was nominated, it was pretty awesome, I never thought I could be nominated," Parsons said.

Prom was an important and special night for all those who attended.

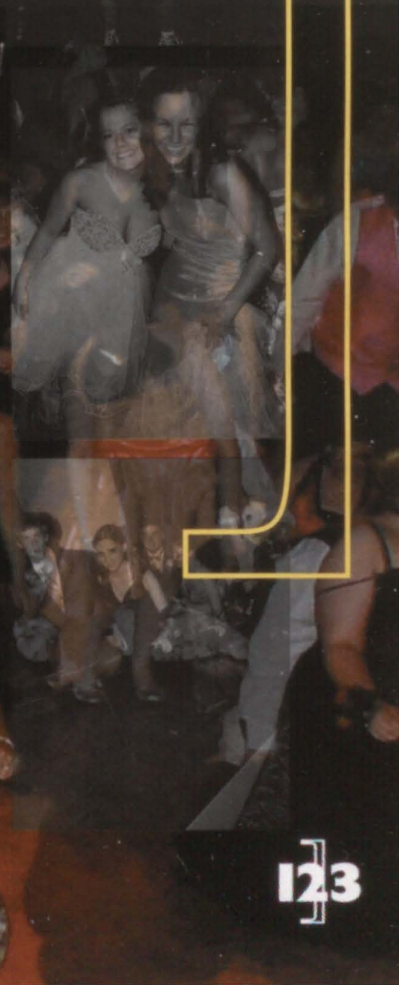

"This prom was a blast because I got to go with my boyfriend and hang out with my friends," junior Sarah Freeman said.

"I had a blast cutting it loose on the dance floor and just having a blast," senior Rhonda Pryor said.

Late Night and Fun Times

Electric Avenue was the theme of this year's post prom. In order to enter into the gym, students had to crawl through a hole in the wall which led to a black hallway, which used glow in the dark paint and neon glow sticks for lights. It was definitely a grand entrance.

Games included a text race, with senior Meagan McQueen winning the challenge.

Senior Caitlyn Tinsley dominated at Wii Mario Kart.

"My favorite memory of post prom was dominating my boy friend in Mario Kart. It truly felt amazing, I go home and practice every night for two hours, because I am a pro," Tinsley said.

Regardless of whether the students went with a date or with a group of friends, they had a blast.

"I liked the Wii Bowling, it was really fun and the first time I played, I tied with my best friend Kim Phelps," junior Shelby Hadley said.

A returning attraction from previous years was the money machine.

Senior Jeff Painter enjoyed a trip to the money machine by having his ticket drawn.

"I just got about six or seven dollars, it was really hard," Painter said.

The prizes and refreshments were crowd pleasers for many.

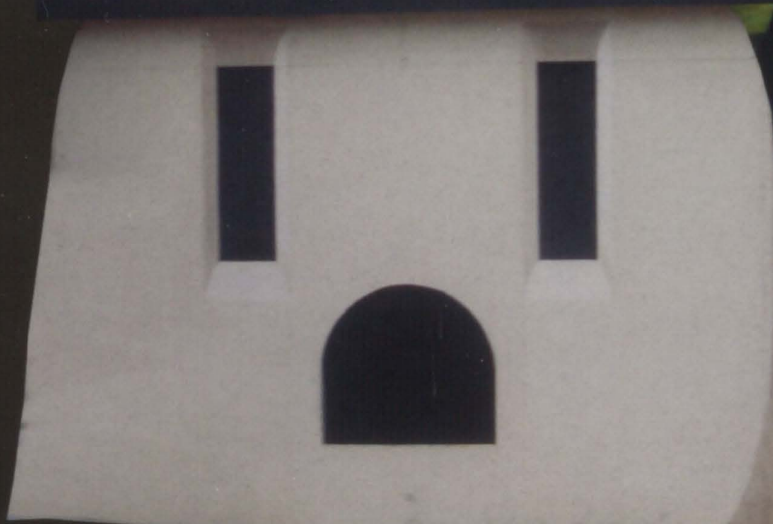

"My favorite part about post prom was the food, especially the White Castles," junior Joe Neely said.

White Castle, Chick-Fil-A, pizza, sub sandwiches, nachos, cotton candy and snowcones were served, just to name a few.

Students trickled home at 4 a.m. to prepare for the next day's festivities, whether it was going to Kings Island, the lake or just sleeping in. Prom was a weekend to remember. -KAITLIN CHAPPELOW

Orchestra goes to Six Flags!

Mooresville High School Orchestra went to a competition at Six Flags theme park on Saturday, May 9. The festival was called "Music in the Parks" and the entire orchestra ensemble went to compete. The competition consisted of all orchestra, bands and choirs. Our orchestra was the only one from Indiana; most of the other choirs were from around the surrounding states.

"The competition is a reward for the students at the end of the year to show off all their hard work," Mrs. Sheryl Fyffe said.

They ended up getting a superior rating as a group at the competition. A superior rating is scoring between 90-100 on the judges scale. They received a score of 95.5. They won first place, and top honors out of all the other Ensembles.

"The overall trip was a great experience and they played the best that they have ever played," Mrs. Fyffe said. "I am very proud of them and all their accomplishments this year." -DANIELLE WOODING

Band Showcase Concert

Band ends the year on a good note with their annual concert.

From the first song "Millennium", performed by MHS Percussion Ensemble, to the last "Trumpet Voluntary", the band department's last time to shine was at their annual show, the Band Showcase Concert. Not only did every band from middle school to high school perform, but there were several pops ensembles and the winter guard performed their show, "What Once Was Lost".

"My time in band has been a lot of fun, and I look forward to using all the things I have learned," senior Rachel Jewell said.

For some, the Band Showcase Concert was the last chance to show how they have improved over the years as players. Many of the members involved in several groups agreed upon the same band as their favorite.

"[My favorite group to perform in was] Jazz Band, because you get to move around and dance while you play. I love it!" junior Chris Jones said.

As tradition goes, the school fight song, "Illinois Loyalty" was played, but not by both Paul Hadley and MHS band members as in years past. Instead, both bands played "Trumpet Voluntary" as senior drum major Sarah Vaughn conducted.

As senior members reminisced, underclassmen looked forward to the coming years.

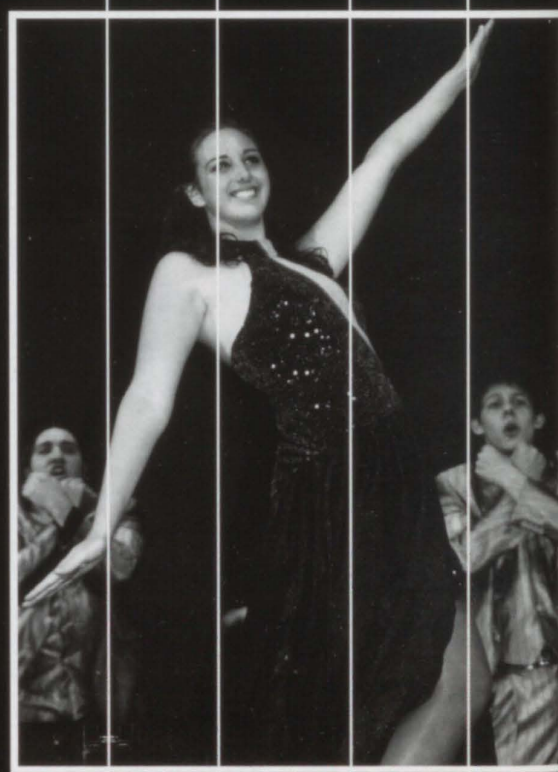

"Hopefully band will be a key role in my life, because I plan to minor in music in college. Through staying in band and taking Music Theory, it will help for me to accomplish my goal," freshman Cole Hart said.

The Mens and Womens Track teams here at MHS had very successful seasons. On May 12, both teams were competing against Martinsville, Monrovia and Eminence for the county title. The county track meet was held here at Mooresville.

"This year the team has really been improving and when county came around, we all came together to try to beat Martinsville. That's the first time we really worked together as a team to do our best," sophomore Aric Bigham said.

At the county track meet, it was also a time to honor the senior track meet competitors.

"It has been a lot of fun. All the seniors stepped up and showed courage and leadership. As for the underclassmen, they showed great strength. At county, everyone worked hard, and almost all improved their times," senior Wes Harris said.

Even though the Pioneers did not win the county meet, they finished second and third-women came in third; men came in second.

"Track still isn't over, we have sectionals to still think about, we all improved at county."

Spring Spectacular

Spring Spectacular, a tradition at Mooresville High School, has always entertained its audiences as the seniors perform for the last time together on stage. It was no exception this year; the audience was dazzled with the performance.

A crowd favorite was the Madrigals skit. It was based on a day in Madrigals class, with Mr. Jason Damron portrayed by senior Ally Nelson.

Nelson nailed the performance, acting out things that Damron would do, such as take sophomore Trey Davis's cell phone.

"The Mads' skit was definitely the best thing of the night, it was entertaining and musical, all at the same time," sophomore Karlie Stanton said.

Solo acts were performed as well. It was a true mix of talent.

"Hanging out with friends and getting to perform new things, enjoying time with the seniors for the last time was the best part of the night for me," junior Courtney Richards said.

While on stage, the energy from the performers showed.

"Performing at Spring Spec was so much fun. I have the best feeling while I'm on stage," freshman Samantha Acres said.

The night ended and a few tears were shed as the seniors lined up across the stage for the last time and sang "Give Me Wings". -KAITLIN CHAPPELOW

It's Not Over Yet!

Students stay busy and prepare for finals and summer vacation during the last week of school.

The last week of the 2008-2009 school year was a busy one, especially for the seniors. With three senior sports nights (softball, baseball, and tennis), the band banquet, the senior bike ride and Concert on the Lawn, students had plenty of activities to keep them busy, along with studying for finals.

Monday night was the band banquet and awards ceremony.

Tuesday, Womens Tennis had a challenging match against Avon. Unfortunately, the Pioneers were defeated, 1-4, by the Orioles. It was also senior night, and the last home match for the five seniors on the team.

Wednesday, the AP Biology students presented their semester projects in which they had had to design their own experiment and conduct it all semester long. The baseball and softball teams had their senior nights, both facing conference rival the Plainfield Quakers. The men came out with a victory of 15-12 and the women also won, 6-4.

Thursday, Mens Track traveled to Bloomington North for Sectionals.

Friday, the seniors gathered together for their last trip to school on bikes.

Thursday, the Mens 4 x100 Relay consisting of sophomore Aric Bigham, junior Andrew Gibson and seniors Terry Rady and Adam LeBlanc was on fire. An event they had been perfecting all year long brought much success.

Competing against schools such as Bloomington North and South that were packed with extreme quickness, the Pioneer four-some ran to a third place finish which earned them a spot in the Regional meet the following Thursday.

Not only did they advance to the Regional meet, but they broke the 4 x 100 school record with a time of 43.98. The previous record was set in 2006 by Sean McFarland, Chris Hawkins, Robby Alumbaugh and Zack Skaggs with a time of 44.05.

"We knew we could break it, we just had to match up our hand-offs and get them down perfect, we were all fast enough runners," Gibson said.

The men believed in themselves and gave it their all.

"It was unexpected, we knew we would get the record at either the Sectional or Regional meet, but it was just a matter of practice. We tried our hardest. [Sectionals] unlike most meets was timed electronically rather than by hand. Times seem to be slower when its electronic. When they announced the places and the times, we were so happy. We were jumping up and down and yelling," LeBlanc said.

Mooresville would then race again in the Regional meet the following Tuesday, hoping to qualify for the state meet.

"I was very appreciative when I was awarded the Medal of Honor since it is very prestigious, and a lot of different aspects of the candidates are looked at.

"Knowing that my efforts on and off the court were appreciated is very meaningful," Wiser said.

Right: Lori Nichols (swimming) and Matt Kenney (basketball) were named the Senior Athletes of the Year.

Mooresville Track Coach Clint Swalls, the 4 x100-meter Mens relay coach and math teacher at MHS, took his first 4 x100 team ever to state on Friday, June 5. The team took off at 11 a.m. and ran for state at 6:45 p.m. The IHSAA finals were hosted by Indiana University and were held at the Robert C. Hough Track and Field Complex. Admission was $8.

"It feels good," Swalls said about going to state. "We've broken the school record this year, and this is my first team to take to state, so that's an experience."

The 4 x100 team consisted of seniors Adam LeBlanc, Travis Delk and Terry Rady, juniors Aric Bigham and Andrew Gibson and sophomore Matt Gibson.

"It feels great [going to state]," LeBlanc said. "I'm ecstatic!"

Andrew Gibson took the first turn to pass it off to Rady, Rady then passed off to LeBlanc and LeBlanc passed the baton off to Bigham, who ran it in for the last stretch.

"[We were] in a heat with Bloomington North and South," Swalls said. "We went against them in regionals, and that's who [we were] looking to beat."

The team agreed.

"If we get a good handoff, we should be able to beat them," Delk stated before the meet. "As an alternative, I'm pretty excited to go to state. We've practiced every day after school to make it this far. Its pretty amazing."

Although competition at state was tough, Swalls said that he was confident in his team.

"We are more worried about winning our heat than anything else," he said. "We would like to set the record even lower, though I think we could beat it again next year."

Mooresville competed with 27 other schools, but will be up against eight in their heat, including Castle, Crown Point, Carmel, Washington, Bloomingtons North and South, Elkhart Memorial and Evansville Harrison.

"I always think we can work harder, but if we come out crisp and clean at the hand offs, then it will pay off," Swalls said.

As emotions ran high and the acceleration started to flow, Mooresville was one of the underdogs at state, but no one seemed too nervous or worried. Only hard work and determination determined who would take home the win.

The Class of 2009

As We Go On

The graduating class looks towards the future, but won't forget the past.

Saturday, May 30 was the last time the class of 2009 would all be together as one united group. It was an exiting time, yet bittersweet for some. The memories they shared would last a life time, but things would change.

Courtney Lane opened the ceremony by giving the welcoming address.

"I was truly honored to give the welcome address at graduation and I'm excited to see everyone at our 10-year reunion. I look forward to seeing all the remarkable things that the class of 2009 has to offer the world," Lane said.

"For future classes, always strive to be your best, make friendships that will be with you forever, but most of all, remember that everyone has something special to offer this world."

The class of 2009 was packed with talent. There were stellar athletes, tremendous leaders and, academically, the class was one of the best. Three hundred, eighteen students walked across the stage to receive their diploma, and, to date, the class of 2009 had the most Academic Honors Diplomas received than any other class in Mooresville's history.

There was not one speech to listen to from the valedictorian, but three. Adam Hakes, Stephen Outcalt and Kaitlyn Walker shared the title of valedictorian. All three speeches were different from one other, all offering a different piece of advice.

To most, it seemed like they had just been freshman and the years flew by.

"I was excited to walk on stage and receive my diploma," Ashley Antic said. "I could not believe high school was over, but I am looking forward to college and the years to come."

For many, it opened their eyes to realize the "Real World" was yet to come.

"I feel like high school went by too fast and I'm going to miss it, especially soccer," Ryan Skora said. "Make the most out of high school, be involved and enjoy life."

Adam Hakes' speech was based on enjoying what is front of you and having fun along the way.

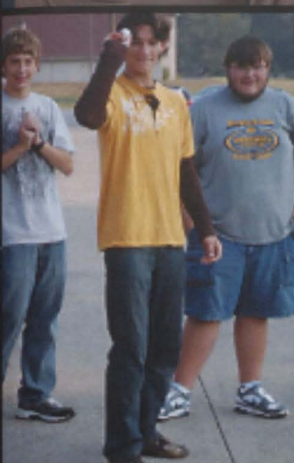

"Graduating was really bittersweet. It's sad that I might not see people that were a big part of my life ever again, but I am very glad to be moving onto the rest of my life," Hakes said.

For the class of 2009, the graduation ceremony was a source of closure to the last four years of their life. But, it was not the end; it was just the start of a new beginning. - KAITLIN CHAPPELOW

Kristen Hurt AND Lindsey Gershanoff

The first day of kindergarten, Kristen was the first kid I saw so I walked up to her and asked if she wanted to be my friend, and she said yes! I can remember going home and telling my mom, "I made a new friend!" -Lindsey

I definitely think we will stay friends because we have a lot in common and we will make an effort to stay in touch. -Kristen

We are both going to ISU next year, and we are going to be roommates. Kristen has been a part of my life since I was 5; she's like family. -Lindsey

Our boyfriends are best friends too. -Kristen

Haley Loechel

Congrats to the world's best daughter and sister- we're so proud of you! God blessed us when you were born. You'll do great in college and life, and we look forward to your many future successes (meow)!

Love,
Dad, Mom Calvin, and Kyle

Rachel Martinelli

You do everything with a unique blend of humor, determination, and thoughtfulness. The world is in need of your special talents. Always remember to approach life with love and laughter, and nothing will be impossible. Much love to our beautiful daughter.

-Mom and Dad

Ashley McEvoy

Congratulations! Your hard work has paid off and now you are graduating. You will make a wonderful nurse. I'm so very proud of you! I love you!

-Mom

Kaitlyn Walker

We are so blessed to have you as our daughter. Your passion, strength, and grace are an inspiration. May these qualities take you to places that you cannot yet imagine. Follow your passion sincerely, yield your strength gently, and always lead gracefully

Love,
Your family

Megan White

I thank God every day for letting me have such a wonderful granddaughter, Megan. Since the passing of her grandmother, Megan has helped me with everything when the rest of the family has turned away. She is always there and I love her so much!

Taylor Wittell

We are very proud of you and the person that you've become. Don't settle for less than you can be. Wherever you go and whatever you do, we'll be here for you. Keep smiling!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Erin and Lindsay

You have finally spent those 4,536,000 seconds throughout the school year, whether in class or not. With the field trips, fierce competition at games, spectacular performances, club meetings and weekends in between, the school year passed by so quickly when you look back on it.

The school year may have come to a close, but all that means is more activities started for the next school year. Hopefully, you are now in-the-know and are able to converse knowledgeably about the 2008-2009 school year.

As you read this yearbook, the Wagon Trails staff hopes you have enjoyed a small look into the activities of the 2008-2009 school year. We realize the dramatic turn in our work compared to past years and hope you have enjoyed the Week by Week layouts. And for all of you lucky underclassmen, you got your album photo in color before you were a senior!

So again, we hope you have enjoyed something very special to the yearbook staff. A yearbook that encompassed much hard work, very long hours and ideas that were out-of-the-box while staying inside the rules.

Colophon

The 2009 Wagon Trails Yearbook, Volume 63, was created by a student staff and printed by Herff Jones Publishing Company at its facility at 2424 Midpoint Drive in Edwardsville, Kansas. This is the first All-Color Wagon Trails yearbook.

The plant opened in 2005, this is the fourth book printed out of the facility. The publishing consultant was Cathy Wines, and the customer service representative was Debbie Thomas.

Lifetouch Photos took all the underclass and faculty photos. The senior photos were taken by Main Street Photography in Mooresville.

The book was created using Adobe InDesign CS2 and Adobe Photoshop CS2. The base price of the book was $45. A one-line name plate cost $6, and a two-line nameplate cost $7. The press run was 700 books, and yearbooks were slated for distribution during Fall Homecoming, 2009.

Also, deserving thanks are those who assisted with the books sales and distribution: Peggy Gorman, Becky Bischoff, Marsha Green, Karen Cochran and the other office staff. The yearbook staff would like to thank the following people for their contributions to this product: Cathy Wines, Debbie Thomas, Rick Briar, Chuck Muston, Trisha Ferguson, Tim Van Wanzeele, Dr. Phil Wright, Lindy Scott and all those who assisted with the production of our annual variety show, Wagon Trails Revue.
