

Moorsville High School, Moorsville, Indiana (1910-1959)
(1914 Photo by J. P. Calvert)

The “old” Mooresville High School was built between 1907-1910 next to the Academy Building on what is today the campus of Newby Elementary School (built next door in 1936) on North Monroe St. The 100-foot-square building cost $26,000. In 1921, a gymnasium, and in 1924, a heating plant, were added at a cost of $20,000 each. Between 1908-1959, a total of 1,854 students attended classes there. High school classes continued until 1959, when the “new” high school was built at its present location on North Indiana St. During the 1960s until 1971, Newby grades 1-6 held classes in the old high school. The structure was razed in the summer of 1971.

Published by Mooresville Public Library
220 West Harrison Street
Mooresville, IN 46158
www.mooresvillelib.org

Copyright © 2009 by Mooresville Public Library. All Rights Reserved.

Flash From Your Past Historical Flash Card Series — Card #29

This commemorative tile (above) shows the “old” Mooresville High School (1910-1959).